AMERICANS ADVANCE ON 2-MILE FRONT --- DEFEAT HUNS

HOSPITAL SHIP IS SUNK BY U-BOAT

Submarine Torpedoes Vessel Without Warning 70 Miles From Irish Coast.

234 PERSONS MISSING

Only Twenty-four of Those on Board the Llandovery Castle Are Saved — Boat Was Under Charter of Canadian Government.

London, July 3.—The 11,000 ton hospital ship Llandovery Castle, which had been chartered by the Canadian government and had been in the service of carrying wounded and sick from England to Canada for many months, was torpedoed by a German submarine 70 miles from the Irish coast on the night of June 27.

The ship was on her way to England. She had on board 258 persons, including 80 men of the Canadian army medical corps and 14 women nurses.

Twelve Sisters Seen to Drown. Up to the latest reports only 24 of those on board, including the captain, have survived the treacherous attack, which came without warning.

One of the ship's boats containing 12 nursing sisters, was seen to capsize, according to latest information. The sisters were drowned.

The commander of the destroyer Lysander, which rescued the captain and those in his boat, describing the rescue, said circumstances of the sinking as he learned them from the survivors, made it quite clear that this was another instance of sinking at night, and that it was obviously intended to follow the policy of "leave no trace," for when last seen the submarine was apparently sailing in the darkness one of the seven boats launched.

The sisters lost were thrown out and were either drowned directly or caught beneath the boat. A Canadian sergeant who was in the same boat managed to crawl on the keel.

Nothing had been seen of the remaining five boats.

Whether they had been destroyed by shell fire the commander of the Lysander could not say. The submarine was observed charging wreckage, on which might have been survivors, and in the locality where it was likely some of the boats were drifting.

The submarine commander, who ordered the captain of the Llandovery Castle, several of his officers and Major T. Lyon of the medical corps aboard, declared that he had sunk the ship because it was carrying American aviation officers and others in the fighting forces of the Allies. He added to this later by asserting that the vessel was carrying munition stores, because of an explosion which had occurred aft.

Red Crosses Illuminated. All lights were burning when the Llandovery Castle was torpedoed. These consisted of a huge electric cross over the bridge and strings of white and green lights on either side. The red crosses on the sides of the vessel were also illuminated by electric lights.

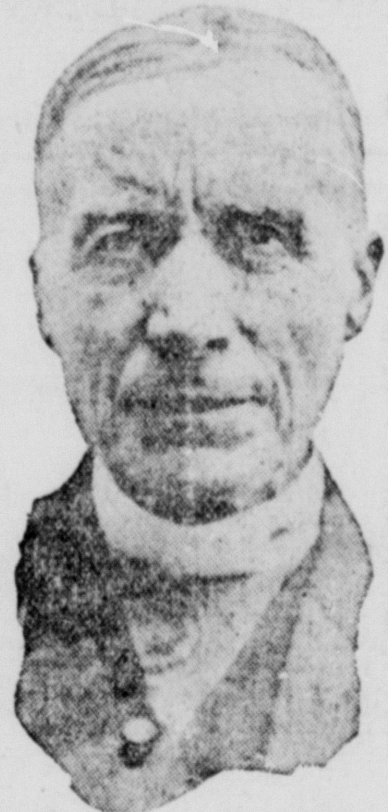

According to Red Cross information many men were killed in the engine rooms. There is hardly any doubt of this, as there was no response to Captain Sylvester's signals from the bridge after the torpedo struck. As the engines were either killed or left their posts, there was no one to shut off the power and the ship kept on her way notwithstanding the great holes torn by the torpedo, not beginning to slow down until the water rushed into the boiler room, extinguishing the fires.

This added to the confusion in launching the lifeboats. There was no panic, however, and by the time the Llandovery Castle had lost her momentum most of the boats were over the side. Those above decks began climbing into them in good order. But many were unable to reach the boats and the ship was sinking rapidly. They jumped into the sea and a few of them were picked up.

Destroyer in Service Again. Washington, July 2.—The American destroyer Cassin, which was torpedoed in European waters on Oct. 16 last, has been repaired at a British yard and has been returned to station with the American destroyer forces, the Navy department announced.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Aged prelate celebrates thirty-second anniversary as cardinal.

Cardinal Gibbons has just celebrated his thirty-second anniversary as cardinal archbishop of Baltimore and the fifty-seventh anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. He is 84 years of age, but retains his health and mental and physical activity. As head of the National Catholic War work council he is directing today all the religious work of his church in American army camps, both in the United States and Europe. Work of the Catholic chaplains in the army and navy also comes under his direction.

Munition Factory Explosion Kills 50 or 60 Persons

(By United Press)

London, July 2.—Between 60 and 70 persons were killed in an explosion in a munition factory in the Midland counties this afternoon. The women behaved splendidly.

ATTITUDE ALARMS BERLIN

Turkey's Territorial Ambitions Are Regarded As Menace.

Washington, July 2.—Germany is becoming alarmed by the aggressive territorial tendency of her allies, according to a report reaching the State department from Bern, Switzerland. A summary of German press reports is made by the Muenchen Post, with the comment that Germany's future can be seriously damaged by the Turkish policy of expansion.

"The Turks' lust for conquest, the German paper says, 'is so great that even the pan-German papers are protesting against the growing demand of the pan-Turks.'"

TO REFUND EXCESS PROFITS

Hoover Orders Millers to Average Their Returns.

Washington, July 2.—Flour millers have been instructed to average their returns since Jan. 1 and refund to the government all profit exceeding 25c a barrel. Food Administrator Hoover announced. The government will take this profit in the form of flour at the rate of $1 a barrel.

This action was taken following charges by the Federal Trade commission that millers had been making as high as 45 cents a barrel on flour.

Hard on Medical Units.

With the American army in France, July 2.—The American medical units in the mountainous battle front sectors of Alsace are faced with great difficulties in evacuating wounded from some points high on the steep ridges traversed by American trenches. Many of our field dressing stations in the front line are only accessible by winding roads and mountain paths. Even under best conditions of the roads, ambulances are unable to climb within a mile or two of them.

PRESIDENT ASKS FURTHER POWER

Desires Authority to Operate All Wire Systems During Period of War.

LEADERS ARE ACTIVE

Senate and House Members Planning Immediate Consideration of Request in Order to Secure Action Before Recess.

Washington, July 2.—President Wilson has approved legislation to authorize government control and operation of telegraph and telephone systems during the war, and leaders in congress are preparing for its immediate consideration with a view to action, if possible, before both houses recess this week.

Secretaries Baker and Daniels and Postmaster Burleson, all of whom have endorsed the pending bill by Representative Aswell of Louisiana, proposing this authority, were invited to appear before the house interstate commerce committee to further explain their views as to the necessity for action at this time.

No Reference to Strike Call.

The President's statement was in a note to Chairman Sims, approving a letter from Postmaster General Burleson. There was no direct reference in any of the correspondence to the call sent out by the Commercial Telegraphers' Union for a strike of Western Union operators on July 8. Mr. Burleson, however, wrote the President that he deemed the legislation necessary "at this moment" when paralysis of a large part of the system of electrical communication is threatened with possible consequences prejudicial to our military preparations and other public activities that might prove disastrous.

It was said that, on the Senate side at least, there probably would be strong opposition to the bill that would make it difficult for the administration to get action before the recess.

No statement was forthcoming in executive quarters as to whether the President plans to make immediate use of the proposed power. It was intimated, however, that he probably would await results of the strike call.

New Shipping Board Director.

Washington, July 2.—J. H. Rossiter, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, has been appointed director of operations of the shipping board.

Austrians Capture and Hang 300 Czech-Slovak Soldiers

(By United Press)

Berne, July 2.—The newspapers at Vienna report that 300 Czech-Slovak soldiers whom Austria captured at Montello were immediately hanged.

Opposition to Government Operation Springs Up

(By United Press)

Washington, July 2.—Opposition such as instantly meets any proposal for government operation of public utilities is running up today in congress to block the passage of a resolution empowering the president to take over the telegraph and telephone lines. The members opposing government ownership said emphatically the resolution as presented in the house as well as by Senator Shepherd must not pass without limiting government control to six months after the war. The limit is not fixed as drawn.

Washington, July 2.—Advocating permanent government control of all methods of communication, Secretary Baker urged the house commerce committee to act quickly upon the Aswell resolution empowering the president to take the telegraph and telephone lines. He said the action is not imperative now but may become so any moment. He urged the committee to place no limit upon the period of government control.

Bolsheviki Win in the Election

(By United Press)

Stockholm, July 2.—Closely censored dispatches indicate the Bolsheviki won a complete victory in the elections in Petrograd. The proletariat was absolutely against the Bolsheviki. The majority of the employees of the large factories voted against the Bolsheviki, who won through the votes of the unemployed, red guards, artificially created government organizations and alleged unions.

(By United Press)

Washington, July 2.—General Pershing reported 80 casualties.

FRENCH ATTACK SOUTH OF AISNE

Advance Is Made When Foch's Forces Strike Enemy at Two Separate Points.

TAKE IMPORTANT RIDGE

German Counterattacks Fought Off North of American Position Near Marne—British and Italians Push Enemy Back.

Vienna, July 2.—The Austrian war office admits the complete evacuation by the Austrian forces of the two important strategic positions of Col del Rosso and Monte di Val Bella on the western end of the Italian front.

The statement says: "Southeast of Asiago violent fighting has again developed. Since the maintenance of Col del Rosso and Monte di Val Bella could only have been effected at the cost of great sacrifices, the occupants of these points were withdrawn into their former main positions."

London, July 2.—Their recently adopted program of striking the Germans at various points along the Franco-Belgian line is being continued by both the British and French. They are capturing a vantage point here and there and harassing the enemy while the preparations for the resumption of his offensive are under way.

The French hit the line in local attacks at two separate points, but both on the western side of the German salient which projects down to the Marne from the Aisne. They gained ground in each attack and took prisoners and machine guns.

The most pronounced gain was effected by General Petain's troops just above the point where their line joins the American sector northwest of Belleau wood.

Britons Under Heavy Fire.

Tension is increasing along the British front in France as the crescendo of the German artillery fire mounts higher and higher. From Ypres to Rheims the big guns are busier than they have been for some days.

The German command is known to have large forces in readiness on the main battlefields of France. They may strike anywhere on the 200 mile main front as their communications give them much elasticity of movement. It is expected also that the blow, when and where it does come, will be the mightiest the enemy can make.

Concentrate Opposite Americans.

South Carolina solon, seriously ill from stroke of paralysis.

Benjamin R. Tillman, the veteran Democratic senator from South Carolina, and chairman of the naval affairs committee, is seriously ill at his home in Washington and his recovery is regarded by his physician as doubtful. His left side is completely paralyzed and he has been suffering from a severe recurrent cerebral hemorrhage for several days. About 10 years ago Senator Tillman had a similar attack which paralyzed his right side, but he recovered to a great extent.

hold a sector, the Germans are reported concentrating troops and supplies. Aerial fighting has been very severe near the American lines. It is not unlikely the Germans may plan to give the Americans a hard blow in payment for the recent American successes on this front.

German air raids against Paris continue, but in three attempts last week and two since the enemy caused no great damage and few casualties.

Enemy Repulsed Except at One Point

(By United Press)

London, July 2.—General Haig reported the enemy attack northwest of Albert seeking to recapture ground we took Friday night was repulsed with heavy loss except at one point where the enemy gained a footing.

With the British Afield, July 2.—The British counter attack delivered shortly after midnight is believed to have driven the Germans from the point where they obtained a footing northwest of Albert yesterday.

CLERKS WORK SEVEN HOURS

President Vetoes Bill Increasing Day to Eight Hours.

Washington, July 2.—President Wilson vetoed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill on account of a provision increasing the hours of work for government clerks from seven to eight hours per day.

In his veto message the President said since at the outset of the war he had called on all employers to see that there was no change in conditions unfavorable to laborers, he did not feel justified in assenting to a measure in which the United States itself makes such a change.

(By United Press) With Americans on the Marne July 2.—The Americans advanced on a two mile front west of Chateau Thierry last night to a depth of half a mile, and took four hundred and fifty prisoners, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy. The American losses were extremely light. We took Vaux, Hill 196 Laroche wood and penetrated Clermont Wood.

The combined French and American attack on Hill 204 conducted simultaneously with the American attack on Vaux is reported to have been successful after a bitter battle. The hill is very important as it dominates Chateau Thierry and the country to the left. The perfect co-operation of the infantry and the artillery made the advance possible. Some portions of the German line are unusually adapted to the positions. Shelling started at six yesterday morning, and lasted until six last night. Then the infantry swept forward attacking all objectives which they occupied in forty minutes. The advance was accurately reported on a front of a mile and eight-tenths, to a depth of six-tenths of a mile. Remarkable artillery preceded the attack. The back areas were first swept. This completely neutralized the German artillery, when the fire was concentrated upon Vaux. Absolutely every building was hit. The men entering Vaux were provided with photographs and maps indicating the buildings they were to occupy.

When entering the town they found the maps more valuable than the photographs, on account of the artillery eliminating all semblance of a house.

Paris, July 2.—Official—French troops improved General Pershing's position west of Chateau Thierry last night when they took the village of Vaux and the heights to the west and two hundred and fifty prisoners including five officers.

Washington, July 2.—A brief message from General Pershing confirmed the United Press dispatch regarding the valiant American work in the Chateau region last night. Officers understanding the situation are elated at the American success. They say careful planning and clean-cut belligerent action is responsible for victory.

personifies America's entrance into the world war and its strains convey
the feelings of a great nation aroused,
alert and striking in the cause
of freedom and justice.

A number of more than ordinary difficulty and one evidencing many fine gradations of tone and tempo is the Keler-Bela overture entitled
"Playful Winds."

ment of Peace Terms.

Huge Indemnity From U. S. Great

in Ridiculous Demands.

Paris, July 2.—Great Britain, France,

many an indemnity of at least $40-000,000,000, Belgium and French territory must be surrendered, Great Britain must turn over its war fleet to Germany, return Gibraltar to Spain and restore Egypt and the Suez canal to Turkey.

These are among the conditions included in the German peace program published in the Nachrichten of German, Prussia, by Count Roon, a member of the Prussian house of lords, according to a Havre dispatch from Barle, Switzerland.

Count Roon says Germany is entitled to the following terms because of its strength, and until they are realized there should be no armistice and no cessation of submarine warfare.

Annexation of Belgium with administrative autonomy in the interior.
Went All Lost Colonies.

Independence of Flanders.
Annexation of the entire Flanders coast, including Calais.

Annexation of the Briey and Longwy basins and the Toul, Belfort and Vos-ges regions eastward.

Restitution to Germany of all her colonies, including Kachau, China.
Great Britain to cede to Germany
such naval bases and coaling stations
as Germany designates.

British Fleet to Kaiser.

Great Britain must return Gibraltar to Spain, cede its war fleet to Germany, restore Egypt to Turkey and the Suez canal to Turkey.

Greece must be reestablished under former King Constantine with frontiers as before the war.

Austria and Bulgaria will divide Serbia and Montenegro.

Great Britain, France and the United States must pay all of Germany's war debt, the indemnity being a minimum of $45,000,000,000. They also must agree to deliver raw material immediately.

France and Belgium are to remain occupied at their expense until the conditions are carried out.

CHILD LIFE IS IN DANGER

German Babies Are Weak and Emaciated From Hunger.

London, July 2.—Revelations of the starving conditions prevailing in Germany, showing the people are clam-oring for bread and fear of the effect
of mal-nutrition on their children, are
given by the French wireless.

The German press has been printing a symposium of the views of eminent authorities revealing that
"thousands of children are weak, narrow shouldered and emaciated, and
are easily exhausted mentally and physically." Unless relief is promptly brought about, the doctors agree
that "child life will be wiped out as
by a pestilence."

WOMAN'S REALM

FIRST DAY OF
THE CHAUTAUQUA

Opened This Afternoon With the Holmquist Concert Co. and Lecture by Peer Stromme

WORK OF ARTISTS A DELIGHT

Peer Stromme Gave a Highly Interesting Lecture on His Travels in Foreign Countries

The Odin Chautauqua opened in Brainerd this afternoon with the Holmquist Concert Co. and a travel lecture by Peer Stromme. The work of the concert company was one of the delights of the season and will long be remembered by Brainerd people who were fortunate to hear it. The Chautauqua tent is located near the postoffice.

Miss Holmquist possesses a soprano voice of wonderful clearness and quite captivated her audience with her solos. Her Norwegian folk songs deserve special mention. Miss Berge, reader and impersonator, delighted everyone with her Norwegian dialect selections.

Miss Hansen-Raunberg, concert pianist, gave several piano solos in which she showed splendid technique and expression. As a trio their equal is scarcely to be found on the American Chautauqua.

Peer Stromme gave a highly interesting lecture on his travels in foreign countries. His lecture was instructive as well as entertaining and served as a fitting sequel to the work of the concert company.

At the evening program the concert company and Mr. Stromme will give a very interesting program and a still larger crowd is assured to-night.

Second Day, Afternoon and Evening

Lectures by Anna Dickie Oleson (Mrs. Peter Oleson.) Subjects, "Women and the War," "The Larger Patriotism."

Concerts by Thortein Skarning, Europe's greatest accordion virtuoso and Anna Skarning, pianiste and soprano.

Wednesday's program is the best of the entire Chautauqua program according to folks who have heard it at other places. The speaker is Mrs. Anna Dickie Oleson of Cloquet, better known in Minnesota as Mrs. Peter Oleson. She is the vice-president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's club and is the first woman in Minnesota to hold the position of National Committee woman on the democratic National Committee. As an orator, she reminds one of Wm. J. Bryan and is undoubtedly one of the greatest and possibly the greatest woman orator in America. In the afternoon she speaks on "Women and the War" and in the evening on "The Larger Patriotism."

PLEASE REMEMBER

To say and to write:
Passenger car or motorcar—not "pleasure car."
Runabout or roadster—not "speedster" or "sport car."
And this is the reason:
Eighty to 90 per cent of the use of motorcars is for utilitarian ends.

The United States farm loan board has listed the automobile as a necessary farm equipment, for the purchase of which the farmer may borrow money under the board's plan for aiding agriculture. The motorcar is just as necessary equipment for the business man.

The United States fuel administration in its ruling that garages and service stations might use light and heat on the so-called fuelless days definitely recognized the motorcar as a public utility.

GYPSY GIRDLE GROWS INTO A BODICE; MEDICI COLLAR ARRIVES.

The girdle is shown in this afternoon frock of blue taffeta and silk voile. The bodice is slipped over the head and ends at each hip with a streamer. The voile is embroidered in soutache. The Medici collar is of embroidered net on this gown of net, which is worn over a black satin slip. The medieval chemise is offset by a black velvet jacket, which fastens in front with a tassel.

QUALITY, STYLE,
TIMELY QUESTION

Discussion of Apparel Uppermost Topic of Women Wherever They Foregather.

CAN DISCARD CHEAP GOWNS

Better Made Garments Advocated by Some and a Battle Is On Among the Makers of Clothes—Variety Desirable.

New York.—One of the several discussions which have been thrown into the modern hour—which breeds discussions as a field does mushrooms—is whether it is better for a woman to look for quality or for style in her clothes, notes a leading fashion correspondent.

The argumentative and problematical side of the clothes is by no means a small issue in the work of winning the war. No woman has a soul so dead that she does not want to concentrate her efforts in the right direction, and to bring to all the minor phases of life, which she may have heretofore waved away with a careless gesture the deep thought and high efficiency which the hour demands.

Once upon a time the talk of clothes turned only to fabrics, shaping, accessories and colors. This was enough to gossip about, and it gave the public and the dressmakers a lively time. But we have gone upward—or downward, whichever one wishes to call it—in a series of spirals to another stratum of air. We are intent upon the discussion of what is good or bad, what is cheap and nasty as opposed to what is cheap and worthy in woman's apparel. Intelligent women, and otherwise, find that the gauntlet of argument thrown into the arena is instantly snatched up by everyone who has a voice, and the problematical side of war-time appareling makes an enlivening discussion that puts scandal, society and love affairs in the background.

Controversy Between Quality, Style.
This problem, which has been presented to every woman during the last six months, as to whether she should buy a gown which lasts and pay a big price for it, or buy one which she may discard soon, and at a much lower price, is of high interest. It is settled by the individual and yet it is important to the mass.

There is an advocate for each side in every crowd that foregathers to discuss the problem; and, more to the purpose, there are many advocates for each side in the commercial world.

The people who do exquisite work are loud in their claims that it is better to pay a high price for material and workmanship, that will last as long as economy demands, than to pay a fifth of that price for a ready-to-wear gown that will fall apart after a few months' service.

Opposing this argument, and conducting a brilliant and usually successful offensive, is another line, made up of those who insist that in a day like this women prefer style to quality and workmanship; that they would rather pay somewhere in the neighborhood of $30 for a ready-to-wear frock that incorporates the newest fashion features and gives one a smart look, even if it has to be thrown away before long.

It has always been the method of the woman on a small income, who wishes to dress fashionably, to car-little for quality or workmanship and spend all on style. It is for this reason that America presents the most brilliant and dashing conglomeration of young women in the world. The shops cater to this immense crowd, which prefers five cheap gowns that are smart to one admirable gown that is conservative.

It looks now as though American women are to be divided into two camps—those who put all their money into one conservative, well-built gown that must last, and those who now and then buy frocks that are chic and that incorporate the new fashion features.

Heights to Which Cheap Clothes Aspire.

America learned a good trick from Paris when she arranged to have the best models instantly copied in cheap materials, and sometimes slipshod workmanship, to be sold at small prices.

It is this trick over here, however, that is the despair of the high-priced dressmakers and the delight of the shops that sell cheap clothes.

The dressmakers rest their increasing optimism concerning high-priced clothes—an optimism based on the fact that the dressmaking business has not suffered since the war—on the idea that women will always need to be fitted for good gowns. The average figure can buy the cheap gown; but the fastidious woman cannot wear it because it does not fit her, and the woman who has a figure that departs from the normal, cannot even contemplate such a gown.

However, one must say this in praise of the cheap ready-to-wear frock in America: It is cut on the most exceptionally good lines that can be expected at such a price. Even the best workers of the Galeries Lafayette do not surpass, and sometimes do not equal, the American cutters, who work by the hundreds on gowns that are sold by the thousands. We must have an exceedingly good national figure. That is the comment of the foreigners who see our women in the ready-to-wear, quick-to-buy, smart-to-look-at, cheap gowns that are sold in every city on this continent.

Watch for Medici Collar.

Two women have worn French gowns with high, wired, outstanding, Medici collars of lace and tulle. Don't let this fact slip your memory for an instant, if you are vitally interested in the new things that come up suddenly over the horizon and promise many followers.

The Medici collar is a symbol of the history of human nature pressed into a few short, mad years of French life. It represents what the Three Feathers of Great Britain represent. It is more than a fashion; it is the symbol of a dynasty.

Now and then, it has flickered in and out of fashion. It was taken up by other queens beside Catherine and Mary; it was worn by debutantes on stately gowns with trains a quarter of a century ago; it has been maintained in a measure in half the courts of Europe, and it may be revived this summer.

It was made of point lace, wired to its extreme points and worn with a black satin dinner gown that was guileless of all trimming and received its high light from a string of pearls. It was also worn in a black embroidered net gown dropped over black satin, with a curious little jacket of black velvet fastened in front, below the hip-line, with a glittering tassel.

There are one-piece frocks creeping into the fashions that show the Medici collar of double tulle, hem-stitched at the edge, and there are soft voile gowns over colored taffeta; that have upstanding neck ruffles of white chiffon that are deftly and carelessly held up by wires.

AUTO HELPS TRADE BALANCE

Motor Vehicles Require Little Cargo Space in Shipping in Proportion to Their Value.

Importance of maintaining trade relations in motor vehicles with foreign dealers was considered at a recent meeting of the export committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Motor vehicles require little cargo space in proportion to their value and serve to maintain the trade balance and the par value of the gold dollar in such countries as Chile, whose nitrates are required for ammunition, and Argentina, whose beef and wheat are in great demand by America and her allies.

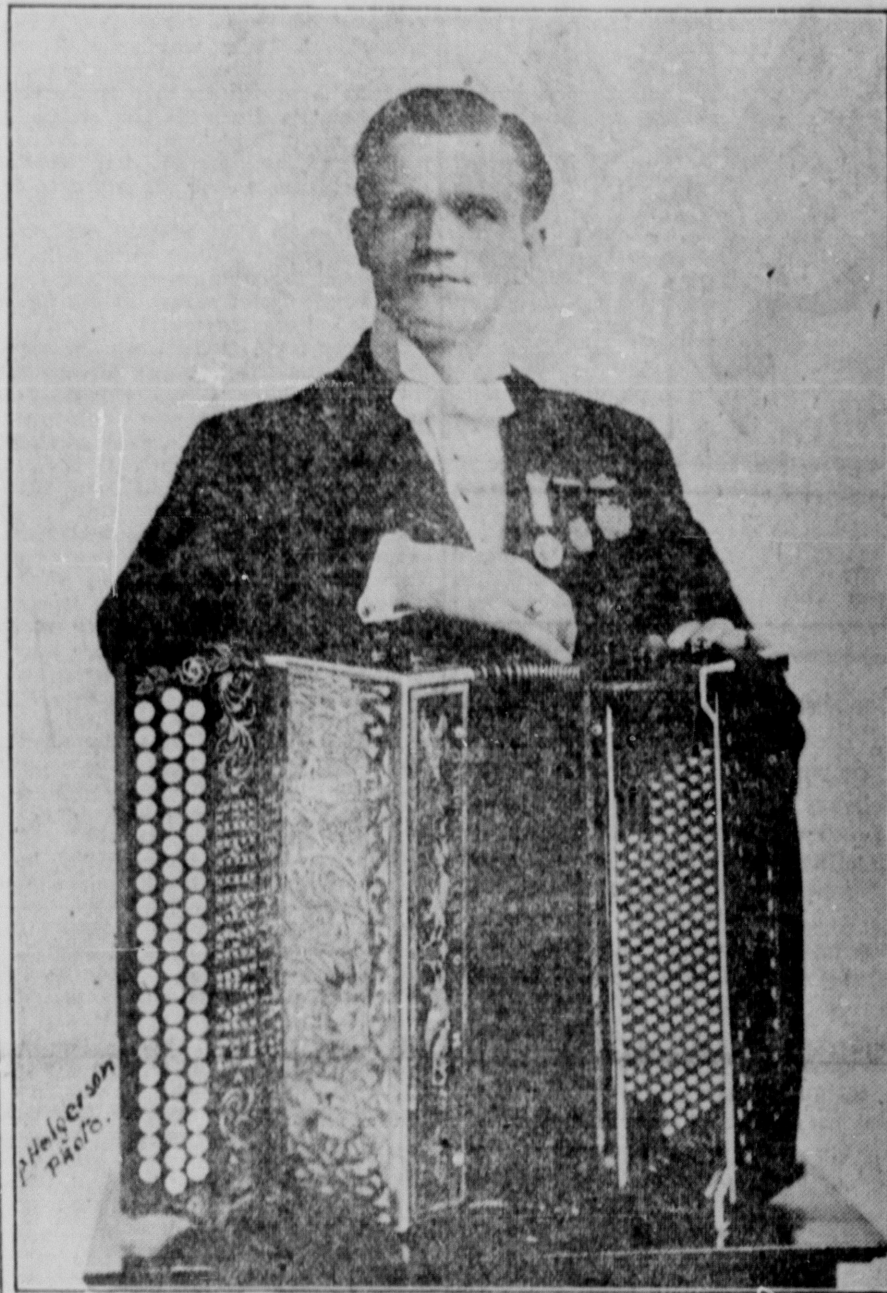

PREVENT PLAYING WITH HORN

Switch May Be Placed in Circuit and Current Turned Off When Car Is Not Running.

To prevent children from playing with the horn and thus exhausting the battery, a switch may be placed in service with the horn circuit and the current turned off when the car is stopped. By installing the system so that the horn switch operates in connection with the ignition switch, the horn when thrown to "off" position would automatically open the horn circuit. Thus the horn could only be used when the engine was running.

THE CHAUTAUQUA

Brainerd is favored this week with the Odin Chautauqua which commenced a five days' engagement Tuesday on the lots near the postoffice. The Odin Chautauqua is a Minnesota product and makes its first bid for Brainerd patronage this year.

I. M. Kalnes is the founder. The name Odin was selected as representing the northern European influence on American institutions, and because the Chautauqua was organized for the purpose of presenting programs of a high educational value.

There have been gathered together some of the best thinkers and musical artists obtainable. The aim has been to secure a Chautauqua of quality.

Cooperation is the keynote of social progress. The Odin Chautauqua can be made a success or failure by cooperation or the lack of it. The talent is cooperating in splendid manner with the bureau. The bureau and the local committee are working together in fine manner. Success is assured if the people of this community give it the proper support.

RECOVER 38 BODIES

Searchers Finish Work in Ruins at Sioux City.

Sad Duty of Burying Victims Is Begun—Cause of Disaster Is Unknown.

Sioux City, Iowa, July 2.—Thirty-seven of the 38 bodies recovered from the Ruff building disaster have been identified.

New names added to the death roll are: Emma Crumline, Mrs. Marion Caylor, Charles Roessler, Mrs. Jonathan Oetle and James McClain.

Search of the ruins has been abandoned and the task of burying the dead and endeavoring to fix blame for the disaster was taken up.

Many persons allege that the disaster was due to an explosion.

Others assert that the collapse of the Ruff building was due to the remodeling operations.

LOUIS HATHAWAY SOON 'OVER THERE'

Brainerd "Y" Man Describes Course of Training in New York. Enrolled at Columbia "U"

SAW MANY NEW YORK SIGHTS

Expects to be Going Across by the Time His Letter Reached Brainerd People

Columbia University, New York City.

Dear Friends:—So many of you have asked me to write to you, that I am going to ask Mr. Wieland to print this and I trust you will accept it as a personal letter to each one of you.

So many things have taken place since I left Brainerd that it is hard to know where to begin.

June 12 I reported at headquarters, Chicago, and learned that my enlistment papers had been cleared, and forwarded to New York, so Thursday saw me enroute to that great mecca of all Americans, the wonder city of the east.

The trip to New York was uneventful though all through the night our sleep was interrupted as we side-tracked for troop trains bearing hundreds of our boys. As the troops passed, our train was greeted with cheers. We passed along the shore of Lake Erie during the day, and as we went on through the night we passed many big steel and munition plants and the glare of their furnaces in the darkness, was startling to say the least.

Then came that stately old river, the Hudson, past West Point into the shadow of Sing Sing prison and finally into the great terminal station of the New York Central.

On our train there were some two hundred "Jackies" bound for the sea.

I did not have to report until Monday morning so the rest of Saturday and Sunday was given over to sight-seeing. We "rubbernecked" through Chinatown, the Jewish Ghetto, Little Italy, ending up with the "Little Hungary" cafe one of the most noted eating houses of New York and The famous Rescue Mission on the Bowery, formerly a Chinese theatre, Roosevelt's favorite lunching place.

Food on the spot where more murders have been committed than any place in the world. Went to a Chinese church for their service.

Sunday morning went to beautiful Central Park, visited the obelisk and then to that marvelous Metropolitan Art Museum where is gathered the best things in art of the world, one could spend days here and then not see half of the wonderful things. Slipped into Old Grace church, famous in New York history. Service in the old church Geo. Washington attended. Stood on the spot where he took his oath of office as first president of the U. S.

I forgot to start by saying the first thing we did after getting settled at the McAlpine hotel, was to go immediately to the Battery and pay our respects to the Statue of Liberty in the harbor.

Then to the aquarium where the wonders of the mighty deep are gathered. This building is where Jenny Lind made her famous debut.

Then we took the steamer down the bay to Coney Island. Saw many battleships, all queer looking craft in their camouflage, too weird to describe. Coney is beyond description. It is such a hodge-podge of crowds, sensations and gaudy amusements. But don't miss it if you come to New York.

Went to the top of the Woolworth building, 57 stories, and the view well just imagine yourself up in an airship and you can get an idea of it. So much for a few of the sights.

Monday I reported and found to my intense relief and joy that my passport was here and that my papers were all cleared and I was enrolled as a "but secretary". The Y. M. C. A. is now a regular branch of the U. S. army and the secretary's uniform is a regulation officers uniform. Believe me I was some proud when I put it on. The we are not allowed to wear them in this country. I gained permission to carry it to a photo shop and had my picture taken. So some of you may be surprised shortly by receiving a picture of a bang-up, proud looking officer and if you fail to recognize it, just label it "Me." Tuesday evening we had roll call at the Fifth Ave. Baptist church, John D. Rockefeller's home church. Then Wednesday we went to this great university, Columbia, for training. President Butler of the "U" gave the welcome address and it was wonderful and full of intense inspiration. We were presented with a copy of his book on the war.

There are some 375 "Y" men here in training, wonderful men, from all walks of life, millionaires, ministers, business men, teachers, actors, etc. There are several ranks of "Y" men: Hut secretaries, religious or chaplains, canteen workers, entertainers, physical workers, etc.

Believe me, we are kept busy. This is the schedule of our day:

Seven A. M., "chow" or breakfast; 8 A. M., lecture on physical training; 8:30 to 9:30, French class; 9:30, lecture on the various allied countries; 10:30 to 10:45, chapel; 10:45 to 11:45, military instructions, military courtesies and officers' duties; 11:45 to 12:30, study hour; 12:30 to 1:30, "chow," luncheon; 2:00 to 3, French class; 3:00 to 4:30, lecture on physical training and games for the soldiers in the rest billets; 4 to 5, physical training and games on campus; 5 to 6, dinner; 7:15 to 8, military drill; 8 to 8:20, singing; 8:20, lecture by returned men from the "Over Seas Huts." So you see we are pretty busy.

I wish you could hear the men sing the war songs under one of the most wonderful leaders I ever saw.

It's great, all of it, so much enthusiasm, and our lectures are by some of the greatest professors and speakers in the country. Well, you will just have to enlist and see and hear for yourselves.

President Butler paid us the great

On the right is Adolph L. Lowe, seventy-seven years old, who served in the navy from 1861 to 1865. He re-entered the service May 29, 1917, as carpenter's mate.

Adolph L. Lowe, who is sure he is the oldest man serving in the navy, called on Secretary Daniels a few days ago, and was warmly welcomed by the head of the navy department.

compliment of enrolling us as students of Columbia on the permanent records.

We have elected a president and other officers, and will go out of here as part of the class of 1918. You ought to hear our class yell. We are getting out a class record, giving the name of every man, his work and home address, etc., as a souvenir.

It all seems as a wonderful dream, and time slips by very rapidly, yet under it all, is the main desire of every man to go, to be of service "over there." I tell you they think everything of the "Y" out here and "over there," and I thank God that I am enrolled under the Red Triangle. The U. S. now grants a blue star inside a red triangle on the service flag for us who have enlisted.

There are five of us in our dormitory, three ministers, a Baptist, a Presbyterian and a Congregational, and a southern college professor and "me," everyone from a different state and I think every state in the union is represented. It just seems as if I had grown and expanded a foot since coming here.

On the field we were playing broncho tag and I rode on the back of a man who can write his check for a million any old time, and I played horse on the steers of the famous Michel Walcott A. J. A. So you see we are a cosmopolitan crowd.

"Sometime" we will go "somewhere" over there. I have been told that there is a special postcard awaiting me at Paris, though I am now ordered to report direct to London.

Well, so much for the first lap of our journey. I wish that you would all write to me. Send it to 347 Madison Ave. Y. M. C. A. War Board and they will send it in.

I hope this has not bored you to sleep. I am writing it wrapped up in my bath robe out in the hall, sitting on the cold, cold marble stairs, as it is about two A. M. and every one is asleep.

Don't forget that I am from Brainerd "Y" and I am from Al. I am watching for mail. Just think how we will want it "over there."

Sincerely,
LOUIS E. HATHAWAY,
Y. M. C. A. Hut Sec., "Over Seas."

A LITTLE MORE

Sunday morning we all attended the wonderful cathedral of St. John the Divine, which has been building and will be for a number of years to come. It has already cost over three million dollars and will cost more.

Visited Grant's tomb. I can't tell you the wonderful feeling as you look down in the crypt on the casket, that comes over one. The purple twilight lighting is wonderful. New York is some town and no wonder everyone loves it. I sure do and feel almost as much at home here as I do in Brainerd. Saw a Ford on Riverside drive last evening and it made me just a bit home-sick for old Front street.

Well, we had our glass picture taken; some picture, and we are on the roll of this wonderful university.

Tonight was our last meeting and orders came today for 150 of us to be ready to sail on short notice. When that order will come, no one knows, or whence its coming. We hope soon.

We have formed friendships here we will never forget, and our class motto is "Service." In the short time we have been together we have

WM. V. TURCOTTE AT CAMP KEARNY

Brainerd Man Stationed at California Training Camp Fourteen Miles From San Diego

BOYS FED AT EVERY STATION

At Fresno Recruits Got 1500 Ice Cream Cones, Crow Wing County Boys all Separated

In a letter to the Dispatch, William V. Turcotte describes experiences. He writes from Camp Kearny, Cal., and says:

"Am now stationed at Camp Kearny, California, 14 miles from San Diego and only nine miles from the Pacific ocean. We had a fine trip three days and three nights. Nothing but mountains and fruit orchards. Oranges and apricots are ripe now and it is surely some sight.

"The people of California are certainly a good bunch, treating us with ice cream, lemonade and fruit at nearly every station. At Fresno, Cal., they gave us 1500 ice cream cones. We marched through the streets of all principal cities for exercise. We traveled along the Pacific ocean about 25 miles.

"The Crow Wing county boys are all separated now, only a few of us are down here. A. Fredstrom, Melvin Gordon, Al Lind and myself coming to this camp. Some stayed at Camp Lewis and some are going all over the U. S.

"This is a large camp, all tents. Saw about a dozen aeroplanes this afternoon over our heads, and they looked like a flock of birds. The Elks have a large home in San Diego so will be at home on Saturday and Sunday."

Finding Way in Air.

Some airmen rely chiefly upon their compass, knowing before they leave their aerodrome their course and the strength and direction of the wind and how they will have to steer to allow for the "drift." They then merely use landmarks as checks to their compass. Others rely chiefly on following the country and seeing prominent landmarks, especially when the district is well-known to them, and only use the compass, or the more reliable North Star, as an occasional rough check.

BRAINERD CREAMERY BUILDING WORK

FARMERS ANXIOUS FOR OPENING

Mat Hanson Showed up With Load
of Cream—Orders for Equipment Have Been Placed

The work on the Brainerd Co-operative Creamery is proceeding rapidly and the indications are that it will be completed sooner than was anticipated. The building will be enclosed by the middle of July at the very latest.

Farmers are getting anxious to have the creamery start. Mat Hanson showed up this morning with a can of cream and wanted to know where the receiving room was. Contractor Alex Nelson showed him, and Pete Stendal and County Agent E. A.
Colquhoun were there to help drink
in the cream.

The creamery company have placed an order for the equipment for the creamery with the Creamery Package Mfg. Co., and bids have been received for heating, plumbing and electric motors.

The building is artistically designed and is a credit to the town and to the farmers that have started it. It is expected to improve the marketing conditions in Brainerd and will draw more trade. The cooperative creamery that was started at Aitkin two years ago is a huge success. They expect to manufacture
a million pounds of butter this year.
There are 644 successful cooperative creameries in the state of Minnesota at the present time.

WEST BRAINERD SCHOOL MATTER

BIDS ARE WANTED ON A SITE

State Department of Education Expert Advised that New Building
Seat 30 to 40 Pupils

All members were present at the school board regular meeting except Elmer Forsberg and Sam Engbretson.

The resignation of R. R. Denison was received. The latter was principal and has accepted a position with the schools of Lawrenceville, Ill. The board also received the resignation of Miss Mildred Schroeder who will become a nurse.

West Brainerd school matters occupied the attention of the board. A letter was read from Mr. Chambers of the state department of education, who had made a recent visit in Brainerd and looked over the West Brainerd situation where application has been made for a school. The board had under consideration the purchase of the Graff or Burrell properties. He recommended neither one as a profitable investment and suggested the building of an entirely new structure seating 30 or 40 pupils. Secretary Louis Hohman was instructed to get the state plans and specifications for No. 2 and No. 4 model schools and to ask for bids on the construction of same.

The secretary will also receive propositions for the sale or purchase of suitable school sites. No inside lots will be considered. People having lots for sale, however, should not get the idea that exorbitant prices will be paid.

The teachers committee recommended that all present janitors be re-employed.

The fuel committee reported all coal received with the exception of 60 tons which would be delivered this week.

New teachers engaged are Miss Ruth D. Gernberg, Miss Hulda Liljendahl, Miss Florence Johnson, Miss S. Ries daughter of M. J. Ries, for grade work, and Mrs. Cook for the M.H. school.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot be Cured.
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All

Guarding Our Lines

Guarding our lines is like guarding our health—we must encourage the care of our bodies—train our organs for bodily endurance, efficiency and full achievement. It is not so much a necessity to fight disease as to cultivate health.

If we want to increase our chances for long life—Dr. Pierce, of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says, "Keep the kidneys in good order. Try to eliminate through the skin and intestines the poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Try a milk and vegetable diet. Drink plenty of water, obtain Anuric (double strength) for 50c at druggists, and exercise so you perspire—the skin helps to eliminate toxic poisons and uric acid."

For those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation, as backache, scalding "water," or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "rusty" joints, stiffness, get Anuric at the drug store, or send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial package.

Send a sample of your water to Dr. Pierce and it will be tested free of charge, or write for free medical advice. Anuric is a regular insurance and lifesaver for all big meat eaters and those who deposit lime salts in their joints.

St. Paul, Minn.—"I thank Doctor Pierce very much for what Anuric has done for me. It surely is wonderful. I have doctored for years, but no doctor or medicine did the good that Anuric did for me. I was so sick at times that I could not do any of my housework nor could I attend to my sick calls. I took two boxes of Anuric and now I feel just fine. I could not get along one day without Anuric in the house."—Mrs. ANNA REEM, 130 South Robert Street.

ISLAND OF GUAM IS LOYAL

Voluntary Universal Training Has Helped Immensely in Americanization.

How far the people of the Pacific island of Guam have progressed in the process of Americanization is indicated in the current issue of the Guam News Letter, copies of which have recently reached Seattle. The island, which is our cable outpost for the Philippine Islands and the Orient, is governed by Capt. Roy C. Smith of the American navy, under the oversight of the navy department. Captain Smith seems to be developing a very ardent band of Americanism among the island people, who are known as Chamorros and have a strong admixture of Spanish blood.

The News Letter describes the celebration of Washington's birthday in Guam, to which the people flocked from all parts of the island, coming by launch, owing to the absence of any island highway system. The proceeds of the various enterprises, amounting to $1,370.55, were donated to the Red Cross, and we gather that the program of amusement was purely American. For instance, the "hot dog" stand realized $108.94; Butler's soda, $158.50; knock the cat down, $112.07; the moving picture show, $75.90; the jitney dance, $45.09; wheel of fortune, $350.10; lemonade stand, $772.93; baseball game, $16.40. From all sources the Red Cross received $1,500, and subscriptions were given for $50,000 in Liberty bonds.

More than this, the island militia had its first parade. Some time ago Governor Smith put into effect a universal military training law at the request of the people, this being the first portion of American territory in which such a law has been made effective. There are 1,000 militiamen, the government supplying guns and ammunition and the regular khaki uniform of the United States army. Seven per cent of Guam's population is in the militia, at which rate, if we of the mainland kept up with the Chamorros, we should have an army of 7,000,000. The flags and floats of the parade induced a tremendous enthusiasm in the populace.

Officer Once Stable Boy.

We have ceased to be surprised at the amazing social upheaval brought about by the war, but the shock which a gentleman received recently at a very exclusive club of which he is a member can be easily understood. On the staircase he was hailed by a resplendent young officer of the guards attired in one of those gray coats whose color and cut are the envy of all "subs." Not recognizing the young officer, there was a pause, whereupon the soldier said: "I'm afraid you've forgotten me. My name is —." The gentleman still failed to identify the officer. "I'm — of Newark," added the guardsman. Whereupon the astounded gentleman recognized the grownup boy who five years ago had saddled his horse at a hunting box he visited. The stable hand had enlisted in the ranks, won a commission in the field, and finally been transferred to a guard regiment, and carried himself as if to the manner born.—London Mail.

Polish Army in France.

The flag of Poland was lifted on the battle line when the Polish legion, 15,000 strong, recruited mostly in the United States, took its place among the allies in France. It is only a little army that the ancient emblem of a free Poland is flying over now, but every Polish volunteer in France and every patriotic Pole in the United States and scattered elsewhere throughout the world, is confident that ultimately the flag will wave over a free and strong and reunited Poland, and every Pole understands that it is only through a triumph of the allies in this war for justice and right and world freedom that the restoration of Poland can be brought about.

The Doll Wife

By REGINALD BARTLEY

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Did you like Allen's wife, Rufus?" The seamed, plain face of old Mrs. Blair showed eagerness and anxiety as she addressed her oldest son, on his way to his home in the West from attendance at the wedding of his brother, Allen, in the city.

"Well, mother," replied Rufus, "Florence is pretty as a picture, pleasant and smiling all the time to everybody, but she ain't like Hester, my wife, though—husky enough to split a cord of wood between noon and sundown if need be. Truth is, Allen has got a doll wife."

The widowed mother sighed, for the phrase sank deep. "Allen is worthy of the finest lady in the land," she declared. Still, the hint of Rufus brought a persistent picture to her mind of a dainty, useless household ornament.

For Allen had written his mother that Florence and he wished to make their home with her.

She had an excellent helper, a buxom, tireless girl named Lucy Davis. It was when the whole place had been made almost new and the heavy work over with, that Lucy came to her. "My folks up in Wisconsin want me to come home for a spell," she said.

Mrs. Blair was dismayed. She had so exaggerated the needs and whims of her daughter-in-law that she was made unhappy with worry and suspense.

"You will surely manage alone," consoled Lucy. "If you had half a dozen helpers you'd do the bulk of the work, just the same."

"But I wanted someone to sort of help me with the dainties and all that," mourned Mrs. Blair.

"Perhaps I can find someone to suit you," suggested Lucy, and the day that she left for her journey home she apprised the widow of the fact that a Mary Brooks would call later in the day, in the hopes of suiting in her place.

"I happened to speak to the hotel man about your needing somebody," explained Lucy, "and he said he had found just the person."

Mrs. Blair, seated on the porch the following morning, had time to study closely a neatly dressed girl of about twenty, carrying a satchel. She was pretty and modest-looking.

"If you please," spoke Mary Brooks, "you must make allowances if I don't quite come up to your ideas at the start. I am anxious to please and willing to learn."

"I shall certainly be glad to teach you all I know," smiled Mrs. Blair encouragingly. Mary insisted on helping in the Tuesday washing and in sweeping and dusting the house. There were blisters on her hands when evening came. Mary, brave and smiling, seemed supremely happy at the encomiums bestowed upon her by her satisfied mistress.

More and more Mary won praise and tenderness from the lonely widow. She did make the mistake of using cornstarch in one washing and blued the clothes to a point of coruscant exaggeration. She made up for it, however, in some special cake and salad cookery.

"There is where you shine, my dear," Mrs. Blair declared delightedly, "and it is in just such fancy cookery that I wanted a younger hand."

One evening Mrs. Blair was dozing on a lawn settee when she sat bolt upright with a shock. There was a leafy screen between her resting place and an open space where the moon shone down, and there were two figures, man and woman—Mary Brooks and her own son, Allen.

His arm was around her and he was kissing her. To the prim, particular Mrs. Blair this was simply scandalous! She could only conjecture that Allen had come home unexpectedly, that the city had spoiled him, and that he had succumbed to the lure of her pretty-faced helper. Mrs. Blair came out into the moonlight.

"Allen!" her voice as stern and censorious as when in earlier years she had arraigned him for some boyish misdemeanor. Instantly the caressing two flew apart. Mary Brooks with a cry of dismay, but Allen approached his mother with glad, shining eyes and arms extended.

"My own mother," he greeted. "Oh, I see you don't guess yet."

"Guess what?" challenged Mrs. Blair, still condemning of face and voice.

"Why, the deception. Don't blame me, mother—it's the work of this scheming little wife of mine. Come, Florence, make a confession."

Which Florence did, timorously, apprehensively, but this gave way to a cry of delight as Mrs. Blair sailed upon her and opened her arms, the welcoming mother complete.

"You see," explained the daughter-in-law, with humility and penitence. "Allen was away on one of those horrid engineering trips of his and I just could not wait to see the old home he had told me so much about. And I wanted to know you. And I am such an ignorant, untrained little simpleton. I hoped to become a real housekeeper before we took up our home with you."

"Bless you, my darling!" interrupted Mrs. Blair, pressing her close, her face radiant with joy and pleasure. "You may be what Rufus calls you—a doll wife—but, if you are, you are just the kind I would have had Allen select."

BERLIN MAKES REPORT

Asserts Prisoners Taken Since March 21 Total 191,454.

Cannon to the Number of 2,476 and 15,024 Machine Guns Among the Booty.

Berlin, July 2.—According to an official statement from the war office, 191,454 Allied prisoners have been captured by the Germans since the beginning of their offensive on March 21. Of these, the statement says, 94,939 were British, 89,099 were French and the remainder divided among the Portuguese, Belgian and American forces along the front.

The statement reads: "After the conclusion of investigations it has been found that the number of prisoners passed to the rear through our collecting stations since the beginning of our attacking battles on March 21 up to the present, not including the wounded passed back to hospital establishments, amounts to 191,454. Of these the English lost 94,939, including four generals and about 3,100 officers.

"The French lost 89,099, including two generals and about 3,100 officers. The rest were divided among the Portuguese, Belgian and American forces.

"Cannon to the number of 2,476 were taken and 15,024 machine guns were brought back from the battlefield to the booty collecting stations."

MINNEAPOLIS MAY GO DRY

Saloon Half Mile From Camps Are Ordered to Close.

Minneapolis, July 2.—All downtown Minneapolis may go dry as a result of an order issued by President Wilson and Secretary Baker establishing half-mile dry zones around every camp where as many as 250 men are stationed for more than 30 days. Advances received did not state when the order would go into effect. The order was made public by the War Department commission on training camp activities.

GERMAN FOOD RATIONS CUT

Reduction Caused by Promise of Supplies to Austria.

Amsterdam, July 2.—Official announcement was made in Berlin of a reduction of from seven to three pounds weekly in the potato ration. Oatmeal or other cereals will be distributed instead. Complete accord has been reached for joint utilization of common grain stocks until the new harvest, say Vienna dispatches.

22 Planes Destroyed.

London, July 2.—Twenty-two German airplanes were shot down, 16 were driven down out of control and two German balloons were destroyed during the air fight Sunday, according to an official statement on aerial operations issued by the war office.

Kaiser's God Same as Mohammed's New York, July 2.—"The Kaiser's god is the same god of Mohammed. He never uses the name of Christ," declared Rev. Corliss Myers, D. D., of Boston in an address here. "Martin Luther gave Germany an open Bible," he continued. "It was the source and fountain head of the growth and prosperity of Germany. But for the last 40 years Germany has been faithless to this guide. There is authority for the statement that not more than 1 per cent of the population of Berlin ever enters a church."

AMERICANS ADVANCE ON 2-MILE FRONT --- DEFEAT HUNS

HOSPITAL SHIP IS SUNK BY U-BOAT

Submarine Torpedoes Vessel Without Warning 70 Miles From Irish Coast.

234 PERSONS MISSING

Only Twenty-four of Those on Board the Llandovery Castle Are Saved — Boat Was Under Charter of Canadian Government.

London, July 2.—The 11,000 ton hospital ship Llandovery Castle, which had been chartered by the Canadian government and had been in the service of carrying wounded and sick from England to Canada for many months, was torpedoed by a German submarine 70 miles from the Irish coast on the night of June 27. The ship was on her way to England. She had on board 238 persons, including 50 men of the Canadian army medical corps and 14 women nurses.

Twelve Sisters Seen to Drown. Up to the latest reports only 24 of those on board, including the captain, have survived the treacherous attack, which came without warning.

One of the ship's boats containing 12 nursing sisters, was seen to capsize, according to latest information. The sisters were drowned.

The commander of the destroyer Lysander, which rescued the captain and those in his boat, describing the rescue, said circumstances of the sinking as he learned them from the survivors, made it quite clear that this was another instance of sinking at night, and that it was obviously intended to follow the policy of "Leave no trace," for when last seen the submarine was apparently sheeling in the darkness one of the seven boats launched.

The sisters lost were thrown out and were either drowned directly or caught beneath the boat. A Canadian sergeant who was in the same boat managed to crawl on the keel.

Nothing had been seen of the remaining five boats.

Whether they had been destroyed by shell fire the commander of the Lysander could not say. The submarine was observed charging wreckage, on which might have been survivors, and in the locality where it was likely some of the boats were drifting.

The submarine commander, who ordered the captain of the Llandovery Castle, several of his officers and Major T. Lyon of the medical corps aboard, declared that he had sunk the ship because it was carrying American aviation officers and others in the fighting forces of the Allies. He added to this later by asserting that the vessel was carrying munition stores, because of an explosion which had occurred aft.

Red Crosses Illuminated. All lights were burning when the Llandovery Castle was torpedoed. These consisted of a huge electric cross over the bridge and strings of white and green lights on either side. The red crosses on the sides of the vessel were also illuminated by electric lights.

According to Red Cross information many men were killed in the engine rooms. There is hardly any doubt of this, as there was no response to Captain Sylvester's signals from the bridge after the torpedo struck. As the engines were either killed or left their posts, there was no one to shut off the power and the ship kept on her way notwithstanding the great holes torn by the torpedo, not beginning to slow down until the water rushed into the boiler room, extinguishing the fires.

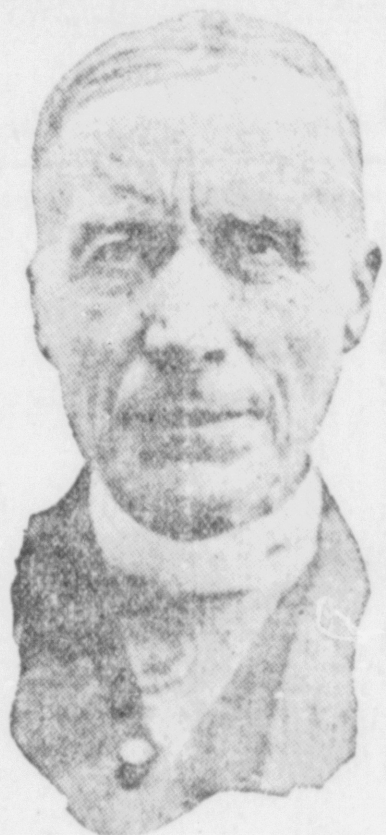

This added to the confusion in launching the lifeboats. There was no panic, however, and by the time the Llandovery Castle had lost her momentum most of the boats were over the side. Those above decks began climbing into them in good order. But many were unable to reach the boats and the ship was sinking rapidly. They jumped into the sea and a few of them were picked up.

Destroyer in Service Again.

Washington, July 2.—The American destroyer Cassin, which was torpedoed in European waters on Oct. 16 last, has been repaired at a British yard and has been returned to station with the American destroyer forces, the Navy department announced.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Aged prelate celebrates thirty-second anniversary as cardinal.

Cardinal Gibbons has just celebrated his thirty-second anniversary as cardinal archbishop of Baltimore and the fifty-seventh anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. He is 84 years of age, but retains his health and mental and physical activity. As head of the National Catholic War work council he is directing today all the religious work of his church in American army camps, both in the United States and Europe. Work of the Catholic chaplains in the army and navy also comes under his direction.

London, July 2.—Between 60 and 70 persons were killed in an explosion in a munition factory in the Midlands counties this afternoon. The women behaved splendidly.

ATTITUDE ALARMS BERLIN

Turkey's Territorial Ambitions Are Regarded As Menace.

Washington, July 2.—Germany is becoming alarmed by the aggressive territorial tendency of her allies, according to a report reaching the State department from Berlin, Switzerland. A summary of German press reports is made by the Muenchen Post, with the comment that Germany's future can be seriously damaged by the Turkish policy of expansion.

"The Turks' lust for conquest," the German paper says, "is so great that even the pan-German papers are protesting against the growing demand of the pan-Turks."

TO REFUND EXCESS PROFITS

Hoover Orders Millers to Average Their Returns.

Washington, July 2.—Flour millers have been instructed to average their returns since Jan. 1 and refund to the government all profit exceeding 25c a barrel. Food Administrator Hoover announced. The government will take this profit in the form of flour at the rate of $1 a barrel.

This action was taken following charges by the Federal Trade commission that millers had been making as high as 45 cents a barrel on flour.

Hard on Medical Units.

With the American army in France, July 2.—The American medical units in the mountainous battle front sectors of Alsace are faced with great difficulties in evacuating wounded from some points high on the steep ridges traversed by American trenches. Many of our field dressing stations in the front line are only accessible by winding roads and mountain paths. Even under best conditions of the roads, ambulances are unable to climb within a mile or two of them.

PRESIDENT ASKS FURTHER POWER

Desires Authority to Operate All Wire Systems During Period of War.

LEADERS ARE ACTIVE

Senate and House Members Planning Immediate Consideration of Request in Order to Secure Action Before Recess.

Washington, July 2.—President Wilson has approved legislation to authorize government control and operation of telegraph and telephone systems during the war, and leaders in congress are preparing for its immediate consideration with a view to action, if possible, before both houses recess this week.

Secretaries Baker and Daniels and Postmaster Burleson, all of whom have endorsed the pending bill by Representative Aswell of Louisiana, proposing this authority, were invited to appear before the house interstate commerce committee to further explain their views as to the necessity for action at this time.

No Reference to Strike Call.

The President's statement was in a note to Chairman Sims, approving a letter from Postmaster General Burleson.

There was no direct reference in any of the correspondence to the call sent out by the Commercial Telegraphers' Union for a strike of Western Union operators on July 3. Mr. Burleson, however, wrote the President that he deemed the legislation necessary "at this moment" when paralysis of a large part of the system of electrical communication is threatened with possible consequences prejudicial to our military preparations and other public activities that might prove disastrous.

It was said that on the Senate side at least, there probably would be strong opposition to the bill that would make it difficult for the administration to get action before the recess.

No statement was forthcoming in executive quarters as to whether the President plans to make immediate use of the proposed power. It was intimated, however, that he probably would await results of the strike call.

Washington, July 2.—J. H. Rositter, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, has been appointed director of operations of the shipping board.

Austrians Capture and Hang 300 Czech-Slovak Soldiers

Opposition to Government Operation Springs Up

(By United Press)

Washington, July 2.—Opposition such as instantly meets any proposal for government operation of public utilities is rang up today in congress to block the passage of a resolution empowering the president to take over the telegraph and telephone lines. The members opposing government ownership said emphatically the resolution as presented in the house as well as by Senator Shepherd must not pass without limiting government control to six months after the war. The limit is not fixed as drawn.

Washington, July 2.—Advocating permanent government control of all methods of communication, Secretary Baker urged the house commerce committee to act quickly upon the Aswell resolution empowering the president to take the telegraph and telephone lines. He said the action is not imperative now but may become so any moment. He urged the committee to place no limit upon the period of government control.

Bolsheviki Win in the Election

(By United Press)

Stockholm, July 2.—Closely censored dispatches indicate the Bolsheviki won a complete victory in the elections in Petrograd. The proletariat was absolutely against the Bolsheviki. The majority of the employees of the large factories voted against the Bolsheviki, who won through the votes of the unemployed, red guards, artificially created government organizations and alleged unions.

FRENCH ATTACK SOUTH OF AISNE

Advance Is Made When Foch's Forces Strike Enemy at Two Separate Points.

TAKE IMPORTANT RIDGE

German Counterattacks Fought Off North of American Position Near Marne—British and Italians Push Enemy Back.

Vienna, July 2.—The Austrian war office admits the complete evacuation by the Austrian forces of the two important strategic positions of Col del Rosso and Monte di Val Bella on the western end of the Italian front. The statement says:

"Southeast of Asiago violent fighting has again developed. Since the maintenance of Col del Rosso and Monte di Val Bella could only have been effected at the cost of great sacrifices, the occupants of these points were withdrawn into their former main positions."

London, July 2.—Their recently adopted program of striking the Germans at various points along the Franco-Belgian line is being continued by both the British and French. They are capturing a vantage point here and there and harassing the enemy while the preparations for the resumption of this offensive are under way. The French hit the line in local attacks at two separate points, but both on the western side of the German salient which projects down to the Marne from the Aisne. They gained ground in each attack and took prisoners and machine guns.

The most pronounced gain was effected by General Petain's troops just above the point where their line joins the American sector northwest of Belleau wood.

Britons Under Heavy Fire.

Tension is increasing along the British front in France as the crescendo of the German artillery bombardments higher and higher. From Ypres to Rheims the big guns are busier than they have been for some days.

The German command is known to have large forces in readiness on the main battlefields of France. They may strike anywhere on the 200 mile main front as their communications give them much elasticity of movement. It is expected also that the blow, when and where it does come, will be the mightiest the enemy can make.

Concentrate Opposite Americans. Along the line northwest of Chateau Thierry, where the Americans

(By United Press)

With Americans on the Marne July 2.—The Americans advanced on a two mile front west of Chateau Thierry last night to a depth of half a mile, and took four hundred and fifty prisoners, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy. The American losses were extremely light. We took Vaux, Hill 196 Laroche wood and penetrated Clermont Wood.

The combined French and American attack on Hill 204 conducted simultaneously with the American attack on Vaux is reported to have been successful after a bitter battle. The hill is very important as it dominates Chateau Thierry and the country to the left. The perfect co-operation of the infantry and the artillery made the advance possible. Some portions of the German line are unusually adapted to the positions. Shelling started at six yesterday morning, and lasted until six last night. Then the infantry swept forward attacking all objectives which they occupied in forty minutes. The advance was accurately reported on a front of a mile and eight-tenths, to a depth of six-tenths of a mile. Remarkable artillery preceded the attack. The back areas were first swept. This completely neutralized the German artillery, when the fire was concentrated upon Vaux. Absolutely every building was hit. The men entering Vaux were provided with photographs and maps indicating the buildings they were to occupy.

When entering the town they found the maps more valuable than the photographs, on account of the artillery eliminating all semblance of a house.

Enemy Repulsed Except at One Point

(By United Press)

London, July 2.—General Haig reported the enemy attack northwest of Albert seeking to recapture ground we took Friday night was repulsed with heavy loss except at one point where the enemy gained a footing.

With the British Afield, July 2.—The British counter attack delivered shortly after midnight is believed to have driven the Germans from the point where they obtained a footing northwest of Albert yesterday.

CLERKS WORK SEVEN HOURS

President Vetoes Bill Increasing Day to Eight Hours.

Washington, July 2.—President Wilson vetoed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill on account of a provision increasing the hours of work for government clerks from seven to eight hours per day. In his veto message the President said since at the outset of the war he had called on all employers to see that there was no change in conditions unfavorable to laborers, he did not feel justified in assenting to a measure in which the United States itself makes such a change.

Paris, July 2.—Official—French troops improved General Pershing's position west of Chateau Thierry last night when they took the village of Vaux and the heights to the west and two hundred and fifty prisoners including five officers.

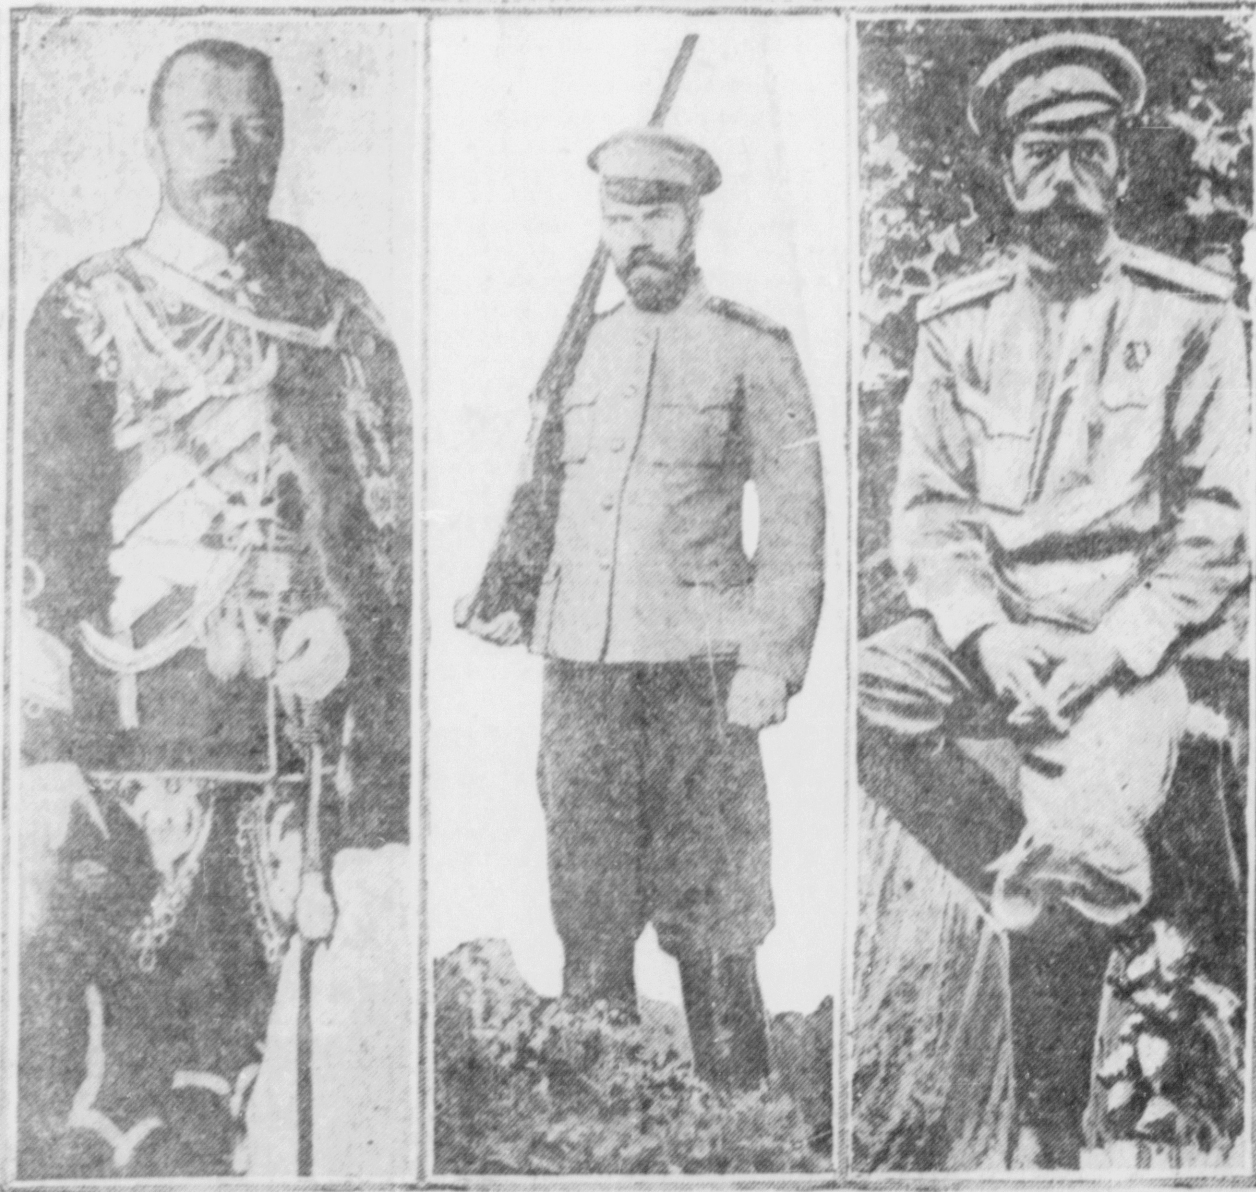

Washington, July 2.—A brief message from General Pershing confirmed the United Press dispatch regarding the valiant American work in the Chateau region last night. Officers understanding the situation are elated at the American success. They say careful planning and cleant belligerent action is responsible for victory.

business for the Fourth and all will now arranged, it starts with "America" and concludes with "The Star Spangled Banner."

A new number will be a stirring march, "A Mighty Nation" composed by the director, Richard H. Rehl. It
personifies America's entrance into
the world war and its strains convey
the feelings of a great nation aroused,
alert and striking in the cause of freedom and justice.

A number of more than ordinary
difficulty and one evidencing many fine graduations of tone and tempo
is the Keler-Bela overture entitled
"Playful Winds."

CHILD LIFE IS IN DANGER

German Babies Are Weak and Emaciated From Hunger.

London, July 2.—Revelations of the
starving conditions prevailing in Germany, showing the people are clam-
oring for bread and fear of the effect
of malnutrition on their children, are
given by the French wireless.

The German press has been printing a symposium of the views of
eminent authorities revealing that
"thousands of children are weak, narrow shouldered and emaciated, and
are easily exhausted mentally and physically." Unless relief is promptly brought about, the doctors agree
that "child life will be wiped out as
by a pestilence."

and ADVERTISE

Advertising cannot accomplish the impossible
any more than barren ground can yield rich crop.

But how advertising does make things hum when the product and proposition are right, the men and methods above board, when there's an honest purpose and earnest effort from bundle boy to general manager to serve efficiency, to deal honestly, to sell good goods, to price fairly.

Oil up the machinery of your business, imbue
your organization with the spirit of true service, make your business worthy of the good will,
the confidence, the patronage of the people.

In this fertile field then sow the seed of advertising and it will bring forth abundant crops
in increased business and augmented prestige.

Your store news in the Dispatch will be read in practically every home in Brainerd and vicinity every evening.

WOMAN'S REALM

FIRST DAY OF
THE CHAUTAUQUA

Opened This Afternoon With the Holmquist Concert Co. and Lecture by Peer Stromme

WORK OF ARTISTS A DELIGHT

Peer Stromme Gave a Highly Interesting Lecture on His Travels in Foreign Countries

The Odin Chautauqua opened in Brainerd this afternoon with the Holmquist Concert Co. and a travel lecture by Peer Stromme. The work of the concert company was one of the delights of the season and will long be remembered by Brainerd people who were fortunate to hear it. The Chautauqua tent is located near the postoffice.

Miss Holmquist possesses a soprano voice of wonderful clearness and quite captivated her audience with her solos. Her Norwegian folk songs deserve special mention. Miss Berge, reader and impersonator, delighted everyone with her Norwegian dialect selections.

Miss Hansen-Raunberg, concert pianist, gave several piano solos in which she showed splendid technique and expression. As a trio their equal is scarcely to be found on the American Chautauqua.

Peer Stromme gave a highly interesting lecture on his travels in foreign countries. His lecture was instructive as well as entertaining and served as a fitting sequel to the work of the concert company.

At the evening program the concert company and Mr. Stromme will give a very interesting program and a still larger crowd is assured tonight.

Second Day, Afternoon and Evening
Lectures by Anna Dickie Oleson (Mrs. Peter Oleson.) Subjects, "Women and the War," "The Larger Patriotism."

Concerts by Thorstein Skarning, Europe's greatest accordion virtuoso and Anna Skarning, pianist and soprano.

Wednesday's program is the best of the entire Chautauqua program according to folks who have heard it at other places. The speaker is Mrs. Anna Dickie Oleson of Cloquet, better known in Minnesota as Mrs. Peter Oleson. She is the vice-president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's club and is the first woman in Minnesota to hold the position of National Committee woman on the Democratic National Committee. As an orator, she reminds one of Wm. J. Bryan and is undoubtedly one of the greatest and possibly the greatest woman orator in America. In the afternoon she speaks on "Women and the War" and in the evening on "The Larger Patriotism."

Boquist-Norman

Miss Anna Boquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Boquist of Pine River, was married Monday afternoon in Brainerd to Ellis Norman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Norman. The latter have a summer resort at Blackwater lake, near Pine River.

Rev. Eloff G. Carlson officiated at the ceremony.

The young people were accompanied by the Misses Frida and Olga Norman, sisters of the bridegroom, and Oscar Boquist, best man, brother of the bride. All came to town in a Ford, and the bridal dinner was enjoyed at the Ransford hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman will make their home on a farm near Pine River. The best wishes for continued happiness and prosperity accompany them on life's journey.

PLEASE REMEMBER

To say and to write:
Passenger car or motorcar—not "pleasure car."
Runabout or roadster—not "speedster" or "sport car."
And this is the reason:
Eighty to 90 per cent of the use of motorcars is for utilitarian ends.

The United States farm loan board has listed the automobile as a necessary farm equipment, for the purchase of which the farmer may borrow money under the board's plan for aiding agriculture. The motorcar is just as necessary equipment for the business man.

The United States fuel administration in its ruling that garages and service stations might use light and heat on the so-called fuelless days definitely recognized the motorcar as a public utility.

GYPSY GIRDLE GROWS INTO A BODICE; MEDICI COLLAR ARRIVES.

The girdle is shown in this afternoon frock of blue taffeta and silk voile. The bodice is slipped over the head and ends at each hip with a streamer. The voile is embroidered in soutache. The Medici collar is of embroidered net on this gown of net, which is worn over a black satin slip. The medieval chemisette is offset by a black velvet jacket, which fastens in front with a tassel.

QUALITY, STYLE,
TIMELY QUESTION

Discussion of Apparel Uppermost Topic of Women Wherever They Foregather.

CAN DISCARD CHEAP GOWNS

Better Made Garments Advocated by Some and a Battle Is On Among the Makers of Clothes—Variety Desirable.

New York.—One of the several discussions which have been thrown into the modern hour—which breeds discussions as a field does mushrooms—is whether it is better for a woman to look for quality or for style in her clothes, notes a leading fashion correspondent.

The argumentative and problematical side of the clothes is by no means a small issue in the work of winning the war. No woman has a soul so dead that she does not want to concentrate her efforts in the right direction, and to bring to all the minor phases of life, which she may have heretofore waived away with a careless gesture the deep thought and high efficiency which the hour demands.

Once upon a time the talk of clothes turned only to fabrics, shaping, accessories and colors. This was enough to gossip about, and it gave the public and the dressmakers a lively time. But we have gone upward—or downward, whichever one wishes to call it—in a series of spirals to another stratum of air. We are intent upon the discussion of what is good or bad, what is cheap and nasty as opposed to what is cheap and worthy in woman's apparel. Intelligent women, and otherwise, find that the gauntlet of argument thrown into the arena is instantly snatched up by everyone who has a voice, and the problematical side of war-time appareling makes an enlivening discussion that puts scandal, society and love affairs in the background.

Controversy Between Quality, Style.

This problem, which has been presented to every woman during the last six months, as to whether she should buy a gown which lasts and pay a big price for it, or buy one which she may discard soon, and at a much lower price, is of high interest. It is settled by the individual and yet it is important to the mass.

There is an advocate for each side in every crowd that foregathers to discuss the problem; and, more to the purpose, there are many advocates for each side in the commercial world.

The people who do exquisite work are loud in their claims that it is better to pay a high price for material and workmanship, that will last as long as economy demands, than to pay a fifth of that price for a ready-to-wear gown that will fall apart after a few months' service.

Opposing this argument, and conducting a brilliant and usually successful offensive, is another line, made up of those who insist that in a day like this women prefer style to quality and workmanship; that they would rather pay somewhere in the neighborhood of $30 for a ready-to-wear frock that incorporates the newest fashion features and gives one a smart look, even if it has to be thrown away before long.

It has always been the method of the woman on a small income, who wishes to dress fashionably, to consist for quality or workmanship and spend all on style. It is for this reason that America presents the most brilliant and dashing conglomeration of young women in the world. The shops cater to this immense crowd, which prefers five cheap gowns that are smart to one admirable gown that is conservative.

It looks now as though American women are to be divided into two camps—those who put all their money into one conservative, well-built gown that must last, and those who now and then buy frocks that are chic and that incorporate the new fashion features.

Heights to Which Cheap Clothes Aspire.

America learned a good trick from Paris when she arranged to have the best models instantly copied in cheap materials, and sometimes slipshod workmanship, to be sold at small prices.

It is this trick over here, however, that is the despair of the high-priced dressmakers and the delight of the shops that sell cheap clothes.

The dressmakers rest their increasing optimism concerning high-priced clothes—an optimism based on the fact that the dressmaking business has not suffered since the war—on the idea that women will always need to be fitted for good gowns. The average figure can buy the cheap gown; but the fastidious woman cannot wear it because it does not fit her, and the woman who has a figure that departs from the normal, cannot even contemplate such a gown.

However, one must say this in praise of the cheap ready-to-wear frock in America: It is cut on the most exceptionally good lines that can be expected at such a price. Even the best workers of the Galeries Lafayette do not surpass, and sometimes do not equal, the American cutters, who work by the hundreds on gowns that are sold by the thousands. We must have an exceedingly good national figure. That is the comment of the foreigners who see our women in the ready-to-wear, quick-to-buy, smart-to-look-at, cheap gowns that are sold in every city on this continent.

Watch for Medici Collar.

Two women have worn French gowns with high, wired, outstanding, Medici collars of lace and tulle. Don't let this fact slip your memory for an instant, if you are vitally interested in the new things that come up suddenly over the horizon and promise many followers.

The Medici collar is a symbol of the history of human nature pressed into a few short, mad years of French life. It represents what the Three Feathers of Great Britain represent. It is more than a fashion; it is the symbol of a dynasty.

Now and then, it has flickered in and out of fashion. It was taken up by other queens beside Catherine and Mary; it was worn by debutantes on stately gowns with trains a quarter of a century ago; it has been maintained in a measure in half the courts of Europe, and it may be revived this summer.

It was made of point lace, wired to its extremest points and worn with a black satin dinner gown that was guilting of all trimming and received its high light from a string of pearls. It was also worn in a black embroidered net gown dropped over black satin, with a curious little jacket of black velvet fastened in front, below the hip-line, with a glittering tassel.

There are one-piece frocks creeping into the fashions that show the Medici collar of double tulle, hem-stitched at the edge, and there are soft voile gowns over colored tulle that have upstanding neck ruffles of white chiffon that are deftly and carelessly held up by wires.

AUTO HELPS TRADE BALANCE

Motor Vehicles Require Little Cargo Space in Shipping in Proportion to Their Value.

Importance of maintaining trade relations in motor vehicles with foreign dealers was considered at a recent meeting of the export committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Motor vehicles require little cargo space in proportion to their value and serve to maintain the trade balance and the par value of the gold dollar in such countries as Chile, whose nitrates are required for ammunition, and Argentina, whose beef and wheat are in great demand by America and her allies.

PREVENT PLAYING WITH HORN

Switch May Be Placed in Circuit and Current Turned Off When Car Is Not Running.

To prevent children from playing with the horn and thus exhausting the battery, a switch may be placed in service with the horn circuit and the current turned off when the car is stopped. By installing the system so that the horn switch operates in connection with the ignition switch, the later when thrown to "off" position would automatically open the horn circuit. Thus the horn could only be used when the engine was running.

THE CHAUTAUQUA

Brainerd is favored this week with the Odin Chautauqua which commenced a five days' engagement Tuesday on the lots near the postoffice. The Odin Chautauqua is a Minnesota product and makes its first bid for Brainerd patronage this year.

I. M. Kaines is the founder. The name Odin was selected as representing the northern European influence on American institutions, and because the Chautauqua was organized for the purpose of presenting programs of a high educational value.

There have been gathered together some of the best thinkers and musical artists obtainable. The aim has been to secure a Chautauqua of quality.

Cooperation is the keynote of social progress. The Odin Chautauqua can be made a success or failure by cooperation or the lack of it. The talent is cooperating in splendid manner with the bureau. The bureau and the local committee are working together in fine manner. Success is assured if the people of this community give it the proper support.

RECOVER 38 BODIES

Searchers Finish Work in Ruins at Sioux City.

Sad Duty of Burying Victims Is Begun—Cause of Disaster Is Unknown.

Sioux City, Iowa, July 2.—Thirty-seven of the 38 bodies recovered from the Ruff building disaster have been identified.

New names added to the death roll are: Emma Crumrine, Mrs. Marion Caylor, Charles Roessler, Mrs. Jonathan Ostle and James McClain.

Search of the ruins has been abandoned and the task of burying the dead and endeavoring to fix blame for the disaster was taken up.

Many persons allege that the disaster was due to an explosion.

Others assert that the collapse of the Ruff building was due to the remodeling operations.

LOUIS HATHAWAY SOON "OVER THERE"

Brainerd "Y" Man Describes Course of Training in New York. Enrolled at Columbia "U"

SAW MANY NEW YORK SIGHTS

Expects to be Going Across by the Time His Letter Reached Brainerd People

Columbia University, New York City.

Dear Friends:—So many of you have asked me to write to you, that I am going to ask Mr. Wieland to print this and I trust you will accept it as a personal letter to each one of you.

So many things have taken place since I left Brainerd that it is hard to know where to begin. I came to New York on June 12 I reported at headquarters, Chicago, and learned that my enlistment papers had been cleared, and forwarded to New York, so Thursday saw me enroute to that great mecca of all Americans, the wonder city of the east.

The trip to New York was uneventful though all through the night our sleep was interrupted as we side-tracked for troop trains bearing hundreds of our boys. As the troops passed, our train was greeted with cheers. We passed along the shore of Lake Erie during the day, and as we went on through the night we passed many big steel and munition plants and the glare of their furnaces in the darkness, was startling to say the least.

Then came that stately old river, the Hudson, past West Point into the shadow of Sing Sing prison and finally into the great terminal station of the New York Central.

On our train there were some two hundred "Jackies" bound for the sea. I did not have to report until Monday morning so the rest of Saturday and Sunday was given over to sight-seeing. We "rubbernecked" through Chinatown, the Jewish Ghetto, Little Italy, ending up with the "Little Hungary" cafe one of the most noted eating houses of New York and The famous Rescue Mission on the Bowery, formerly a Chinese theatre, Roosevelt's favorite lunching place, stood on the spot where more murders have been committed than any place in the world. Went to a Chinese church for their service.

Sunday morning went to beautiful Central Park, visited the obelisk and then to that marvelous Metropolitan Art Museum where is gathered the best things in art of the world, one could spend days here and then not see half of the wonderful things. Slipped into Old Grace church, famous in New York history. Service in the old church Geo. Washington attended. Stood on the spot where he took his oath of office as first president of the U. S.

I forgot to start by saying the first thing we did after getting settled at the McAlpine hotel, was to go immediately to the Battery and pay our respects to the Statue of Liberty in the harbor.

Then to the aquarium where the wonders of the mighty deep are gathered. This building is where Jenny Lind made her famous debut.

Then we took the steamer down the bay to Coney Island. Saw many battleships, all queer looking craft in their camouflages, too weird to describe. Coney is beyond description. It is such a hodge-podge of crowds, sensations and raucous amusements. But don't miss it if you come to New York.

Went to the top of the Woolworth building, 57 stories, and the view well just imagine yourself up in an airship and you can get an idea of it. So much for a few of the sights.

Monday I reported and found to my intense relief and joy that my passport was here and that my papers were all cleared and I was enrolled as a "hut secretary". The Y. M. C. A. is now a regular branch of the army and the secretary's uniform is a regulation officers' uniform. Believe me I was some proud when I put it on. Tho we are not allowed to wear them in this country I gained permission to carry it to a photo shop and had my picture taken. So some of you may be surprised shortly by receiving a picture of a bang-up, proud looking officer and if you fail to recognize it, just label it "Me." Tuesday evening we had roll call at the Fifth Ave. Baptist church, John D. Rockefeller's home church. Then Wednesday we were sent to this great university, Columbia, for training. President Butler of the "U" gave the welcome address and it was wonderful and full of intense inspiration. We were presented with a copy of his book on the war.

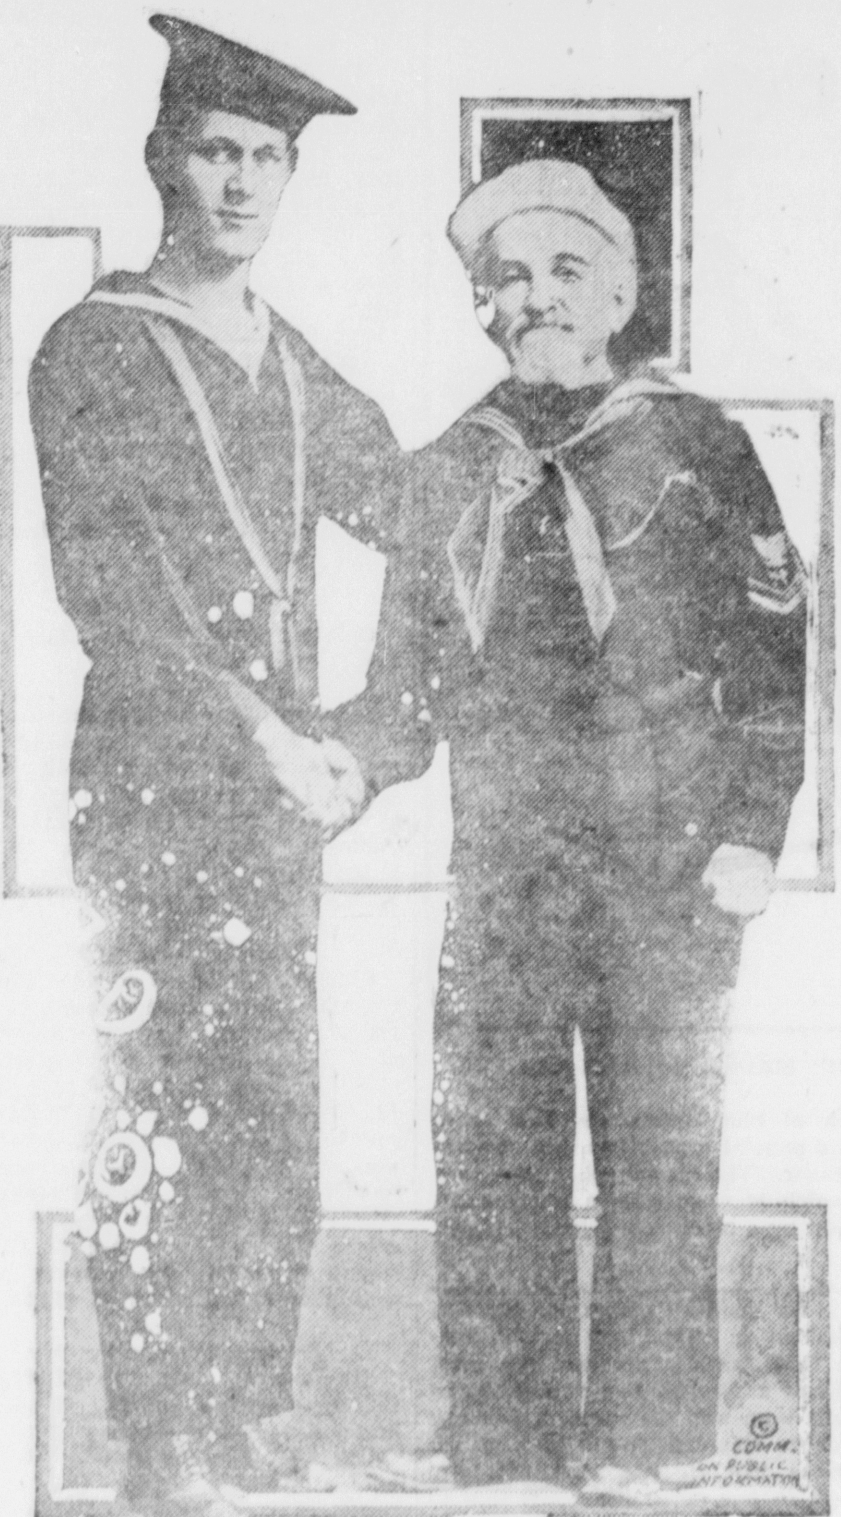

There are some 375 "Y" men here in training, wonderful men, from all walks of life, millionaires, ministers, business men, teachers, actors, etc. There are several ranks of "Y" men: Hut secretaries, religious or chaplains, canteen workers, entertainers, physical workers, etc.

Believe me, we are kept busy. This is the schedule of our day: Seven A. M., "chow" or breakfast; 8 A. M., lecture on physical training; 9:30, lecture on the various allied countries; 10:30 to 10:45, chapel; 10:45 to 11:45, military instructions, military courtesies and officers' duties; 11:45 to 12:30, study hour; 12:30 to 1:30, "chow," luncheon; 2:00 to 3, French class; 3:00 to 4:30, lecture on physical training and games for the soldiers in the rest billets; 4 to 5, physical training and games on campus; 5 to 6, dinner; 7:15 to 8, military drill; 8 to 8:20, singing; 8:20, lecture by returned men from the "Over Seas Huts." So you see we are pretty busy.

I wish you could hear the men sing the war songs under one of the most wonderful leaders I ever saw. It's great, all of it, so much enthusiasm, and our lectures are by some of the greatest professors and speakers in the country. Well, you will just have to enlist and see and hear for yourselves.

President Butler paid us the great

Oldest Man in the Navy and His Grandson

On the left is Gaston V. Lowe, twenty years old who enlisted at Kansas City, Mo., in 1917. He is now on duty at Hampton Roads Fleet Operating Base.

On the right is Adolph L. Lowe, seventy-seven years old, who served in the navy from 1861 to 1865. He re-entered the service May 29, 1917, as carpenter's mate.

Adolph L. Lowe, who is sure he is the oldest man serving in the navy, called on Secretary Daniels a few days ago, and was warmly welcomed by the head of the navy department.

compliment of enrolling us as students of Columbia on the permanent records. We have elected a president and other officers, and will go out of here as part of the class of 1918. You ought to hear our class yell. We are getting out a class record, giving the name of every man, his work and home address, etc., as a souvenir.

It all seems as a wonderful dream, and time slips by very rapidly, yet under it all, is the main desire of every man to go, to be of service "over there." I tell you they think everything of the "Y" out here and "over there," and I thank God that I am enrolled under the Red Triangle. The U. S. now grants a blue star in a red triangle on the service flag for us who have enlisted. The famous "Hut Secretaries" are now in our dormitory, three ministers, a Baptist, a Presbyterian and a Congregational, and a southern college professor and "me," everyone from a different state and I think every state in the union is represented. It just seems as if I had grown and expanded a foot since coming here.

On the field we were playing broncho last and I rode on the back of a man who can write his check for a million any old time, and I played horse for the steward of the famous Hotel Waldorf Astoria. So you see we are a cosmopolitan crowd.

"Sometime" we shall to "20-30-40-50" over there. I have been told that there is a special post in awaiting me at Paris, though I am now ordered to report direct to London.

Well, so much for the first lap of our journey. I wish that you would all write to me. Send it to 347 Madison Ave. Y. M. C. A. War Board and they will send it in.

I hope this has not bored you to sleep. I am writing it wrapped up in my bath robe out in the hall, sitting on the cold, cold marble stairs, as it is about two A. M. and every one is asleep.

Don't forget that I am from Brainerd "Y" and send a letter. Already we are waiting for mail. Just think how we will want it "over there."

Sincerely,
 LOUIS E. HATHAWAY,
 Y. M. C. A. Hut Sec., "Over Seas."

A LITTLE MORE

Sunday morning we all attended the wonderful cathedral of St. John the Divine, which has been building and will be for a number of years to come. It has already cost over three million dollars and will cost more.

Visited Grant's tomb. I can't tell you the wonderful feeling as you look down in the crypt on the casket, that comes over one. The purple twilight lighting is wonderful. New York is some town and no wonder everyone loves it. I sure do and feel almost as much at home here as I do in Brainerd. Saw a Ford on Riverside drive last evening and it made me just a bit home-sick for old Front street.

Well, we had our glass picture taken; some picture, and we are on the roll of this wonderful university.

Tonight was our last meeting and orders came today for 150 of us to be ready to sail on short notice. When that order will come, no one knows, or whence it's coming. We hope soon.

We have formed friendships here we will never forget, and our class motto is "Service." In the short time we have been together we have

WM. V. TURCOTTE AT CAMP KEARNY

BOYS FED AT EVERY STATION

At Fresno Recruits Got 1500 Ice Cream Cones, Crow Wing County Boys all Separated

In a letter to the Dispatch, William V. Turcotte describes experiences. He writes from Camp Kearny, Cal., and says:

"Am now stationed at Camp Kearny, California, 14 miles from San Diego and only nine miles from the Pacific ocean. We had a fine trip three days and three nights. Nothing but mountains and fruit orchards. Oranges and apricots are ripe now and it is surely some sight.

"The people of California are certainly a good bunch, treating us with ice cream, lemonade and fruit at nearly every station. At Fresno, Cal., they gave us 1500 ice cream cones. We marched through the streets of all principal cities for exercise. We traveled along the Pacific ocean about 25 miles.

"The Crow Wing county boys are all separated now, only a few of us are down here. A. Fredstrom, Melvin Gordon, Al Lind and myself coming to this camp. Some stayed at Camp Lewis and some are going all over the U. S.

"This is a large camp, all tents. Saw about a dozen aeroplanes this afternoon over our heads, and they looked like a flock of birds. The Elks have a large home in San Diego so will be at home on Saturday and Sunday."

Finding Way in Air.

Some airmen rely chiefly upon their compass, knowing before they leave their nerve-drops their course and the strength and direction of the wind and how they will have to steer to allow for the "drift." They then merely use landmarks as checks to their compass. Others rely chiefly on following the country and seeing prominent landmarks, especially when the district is well-known to them, and only use the compass, or the more reliable North Star, as an occasional rough check.

WHERE'S THE BRONCHO I CAN BUST?

Jack wasn't what you would call an effete Eastener, but a Western broncho WAS beyond him; so he tried a Ford—and sure made the old "flivver" rock. There's backbone in this picture—perhaps it's some of the backbone that carried Jack up to stardom. You shouldn't miss it!

of Cream—Orders for Equipment Have Been Placed

The work on the Brainerd Co-operative Creamery is proceeding rapidly and the indications are that it will be completed sooner than was anticipated. The building will be enclosed by the middle of July at the very latest.

Farmers are getting anxious to have the creamery start. Mat Hanson showed up this morning with a can of cream and wanted to know where the receiving room was. Contractor Alex Nelson showed him, and Pete Stendal and County Agent E. A. Colquhoun were there to help drink in the cream.

The creamery company have placed an order for the equipment for the creamery with the Creamery Package Mfg. Co., and bids have been received for heating, plumbing and electric motors.

The building is artistically designed and is a credit to the town and to the farmers that have started it. It is expected to improve the marketing conditions in Brainerd and will draw more trade. The cooperative creamery that was started at Aitkin two years ago is a huge success. They expect to manufacture a million pounds of butter this year. There are 644 successful cooperative creameries in the state of Minnesota at the present time.

pert Advised that New Building
Seat 30 to 40 Pupils

All members were present at the school board regular meeting except Elmer Forsberg and Sam Engstrom. The resignation of R. R. Denison was received. The latter was principal and has accepted a position with the schools of Lawrenceville, Ill. The board also received the resignation of Miss Mildred Schroeder who will become a nurse.

West Brainerd school matters occupied the attention of the board. A letter was read from Mr. Chambers of the state department of education, who had made a recent visit in Brainerd and looked over the West Brainerd situation where application has been made for a school. The board had under consideration the purchase of the Graff or Burrell properties. He recommended neither one as a profitable investment and suggested the building of an entirely new structure seating 30 or 40 pupils. Secretary Louis Hohman was instructed to get the state plans and specifications for No. 2 and No. 4 model schools and to ask for bids on the construction of same.

The secretary will also receive propositions for the sale or purchase of suitable school sites. No inside lots will be considered. People having lots for sale, however, should not get the idea that exorbitant prices will be paid.

The teachers committee recommended that all present janitors be re-employed.

The fuel committee reported all coal received with the exception of 60 tons which would be delivered this week.

New teachers engaged are Miss Ruth D. Gernberg, Miss Hulda Liljendahl, Miss Florence Johnson, Miss S. Ries daughter of M. J. Ries, for grade work, and Mrs. Cook for the Mill school.

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot be Cured, by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

Guarding Our Lines

Guarding our lines is like guarding our health—we must encourage the care of our bodies—train our organs for bodily endurance, efficiency and full achievement. It is not so much a necessity to fight disease as to cultivate health.

If we want to increase our chances for long life—Dr. Pierce, of the Sargical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says, "Keep the kidneys in good order. Try to eliminate through the skin and intestines the poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Try a milk and vegetable diet. Drink plenty of water, obtain Anuric (double strength) for 30c at druggists, and exercise so you perspire—the skin helps to eliminate toxic poisons and uric acid."

For those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation, as backache, scalding "water," or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "rusty" joints, stiffness, get Anuric at the drug store, or send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial package.

Send a sample of your water to Dr. Pierce and it will be tested free of charge, or write for free medical advice. Anuric is a regular insurance and lifesaver for all big meat eaters and those who deposit lime salts in their joints.

St. Paul, Minn.—"I thank Doctor Pierce very much for what Anuric has done for me. It surely is wonderful. I have doctored for years, but no doctor or medicine did the good that Anuric did for me. I was so sick at times that I could not do any of my housework nor could I attend to my sick calls. I took two boxes of Anuric and now I feel just fine. I could not get along one day without Anuric in the house."—Mrs. ANNA REEM, 130 South Robert Street.

ISLAND OF GUAM IS LOYAL

Voluntary Universal Training Has Helped Immensely in Americanization.

How far the people of the Pacific Island of Guam have progressed in the process of Americanization is indicated in the current issue of the Guam News Letter, copies of which have recently reached Seattle. The island, which is our cable outpost for the Philippine Islands and the Orient, is governed by Capt. Roy C. Smith of the American navy, under the oversight of the navy department. Captain Smith seems to be developing a very ardent band of Americanism among the island people, who are known as Chamorros and have a strong admixture of Spanish blood.

The News Letter describes the celebration of Washington's birthday in Guam, to which the people flocked from all parts of the island, coming by launch, owing to the absence of any island highway system. The proceeds of the various enterprises, amounting to $1,370.55, were donated to the Red Cross, and we gather that the program of amusement was purely American. For instance, the "hot dog" stand realized $108.94; Butler's soda, $158.50; knock the cat down, $112.07; the moving picture show, $75.90; the jitney dance, $45.69; wheel of fortune, $350.10; lemonade stand, $772.93; baseball game, $16.40. From all sources the Red Cross received $1,500, and subscriptions were given for $50,000 in Liberty bonds.

More than this, the island militia had its first parade. Some time ago Governor Smith put into effect a universal military training law at the request of the people, this being the first portion of American territory in which such a law has been made effective. There are 1,000 militiamen, the government supplying guns and ammunition and the regular khaki uniform of the United States army. Seven per cent of Guam's population is in the militia, at which rate, if we of the mainland kept up with the Chamorros, we should have an army of 7,000,000. The flags and floats of the parade induced a tremendous enthusiasm in the populace.

Officer Once Stable Boy.

We have ceased to be surprised at the amazing social upheaval brought about by the war, but the shock which a gentleman received recently at a very exclusive club of which he is a member can be easily understood. On the staircase he was hailed by a resplendent young officer of the guards attired in one of those gray coats whose color and cut are the envy of all "subs." Not recognizing the young officer, there was a pause, whereupon the soldier said: "I'm afraid you've forgotten me. My name is —." The gentleman still failed to identify the officer. "I'm — of Newark," added the guardsman. Whereupon the astounded gentleman recognized the grownup boy who five years ago had saddled his horse at a hunting box he visited. The stable hand had enlisted in the ranks, won a commission in the field, and finally been transferred to a guard regiment, and carried himself as if to the manner born.—London Mail.

Polish Army in France.

The flag of Poland was lifted on the battle line when the Polish legion, 15,000 strong, recruited mostly in the United States, took its place among the allies in France. It is only a little army that the ancient emblem of a free Poland is flying over now, but every Polish volunteer in France and every patriotic Pole in the United States and scattered elsewhere throughout the world, is confident that ultimately the flag will wave over a free and strong and reunited Poland, and every Pole understands that it is only through a triumph of the allies in this war for justice and right and world freedom that the restoration of Poland can be brought about.—St.

The Doll Wife

By REGINALD BARTLEY

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Did you like Allen's wife, Rufus?" "The seared, plain face of old Mrs. Blair showed eagerness and anxiety as she addressed her oldest son, on his way to his home in the West from attendance at the wedding of his brother, Allen, in the city.

"Well, mother," replied Rufus, "Florence is pretty as a picture, pleasant and smiling all the time to everybody, but she ain't like Hester, my wife, though—husky enough to split a cord of wood between noon and sundown if need be. Truth is, Allen has got a doll wife."

The widowed mother sighed, for the phrase sank deep. "Allen is worthy of the finest lady in the land," she declared. Still, the hint of Rufus brought a persistent picture to her mind of a dainty, useless household ornament.

For Allen had written his mother that Florence and he wished to make their home with her.

She had an excellent helper, a buxom, tireless girl named Lucy Davis. It was when the whole place had been made almost new and the heavy work over with, that Lucy came to her. "My folks up in Wisconsin want me to come home for a spell," she said.

Mrs. Blair was dismayed. She had so exaggerated the needs and whims of her daughter-in-law that she was made unhappy with worry and suspense.

"You will surely manage alone," consoled Lucy. "If you had half a dozen helpers you'd do the bulk of the work, just the same."

"But I wanted someone to sort of help me with the dainties and all that," mourned Mrs. Blair.

"Perhaps I can find someone to suit you," suggested Lucy, and the day that she left for her journey home she apprised the widow of the fact that a Mary Brooks would call later in the day, in the hopes of suiting in her place.

"I happened to speak to the hotel man about your needing somebody," explained Lucy, "and he said he had found just the person."

Mrs. Blair, seated on the porch the following morning, had time to study closely a neatly dressed girl of about twenty, carrying a satchel. She was pretty and modest-looking.

"If you please," spoke Mary Brooks, "you must make allowances if I don't quite come up to your ideas at the start. I am anxious to please and willing to learn."

"I shall certainly be glad to teach you all I know," smiled Mrs. Blair encouragingly. Mary insisted on helping in the Tuesday washing and in sweeping and dusting the house. There were blisters on her hands when evening came. Mary, brave and smiling, seemed supremely happy at the encomiums bestowed upon her by her satisfied mistress.

More and more Mary won praise and tenderness from the lonely widow. She did make the mistake of using corn-starch in one washing and blued the clothes to a point of cerulean exaggeration. She made up for it, however, in some special cake and salad cookery.

"There is where you shine, my dear," Mrs. Blair declared delightedly, "and it is in just such fancy cookery that I wanted a younger hand."

One evening Mrs. Blair was dozing on a lawn settee when she sat bolt upright with a shock. There was a leafy screen between her resting place and an open space where the moon shone down, and there were two figures, man and woman—Mary Brooks and her own son, Allen.

His arm was around her and he was kissing her. To the plain, particular Mrs. Blair this was simply scandalous! She could only conjecture that Allen had come home unexpectedly, that the city had spoiled him, and that he had succumbed to the lure of her pretty-faced helper. Mrs. Blair came out into the moonlight.

"Allen!" her voice as stern and censoring as when in earlier years she had arraigned him for some boyish misdemeanor. Instantly the caressing two flew apart, Mary Brooks with a cry of dismay, but Allen approached his mother with glad, shining eyes and arms extended.

"My own mother," he greeted. "Oh, I see you don't guess yet."

"Guess what?" challenged Mrs. Blair, still condemning of face and voice.

"Why, the deception. Don't blame me, mother—it's the work of this scheming little wife of mine. Come, Florence, make a confession."

Which Florence did, timorously, apprehensively, but this gave way to a cry of delight as Mrs. Blair smiled upon her and opened her arms, the welcoming mother complete.

"You see," explained the daughter-in-law, with humility and penitence, "Allen was away on one of those horrid engineering trips of his and I just could not wait to see the old home he had told me so much about. And I wanted to know you. And I am such an ignorant, untrained little simpleton. I hoped to become a real housekeeper before we took up our home with you."

"Bless you, my darling!" interrupted Mrs. Blair, pressing her close, her face radiant with joy and pleasure. "You may be what Rufus calls you—a doll wife—but, if you are, you are just the kind I would have had Allen select."
